Supervisors Vote $205,000 to Cover Transition Period

Frigid Weather Is Rampant in West, Heads Eastward

Floods Are Menace in Many Areas — Snow, Cold in Prospect for Seaboard

(By The Associated Press)

More rough wintry weather plagued the storm-battered east and midwest today. Floods also menaced many areas and they remained a threat in Northern California.

The season's coldest weather was fanning out over the midcontinent. Frigid air extended over the northern plains and northern Rockies, sending temperatures to sub-zero levels. It pushed southeastward into northwestern Oklahoma, southeastern Kansas and northwestern Iowa. It was expected to cover the entire north central region by tonight.

Snow and strong winds combined with the cold air to fashion a mid-winter setting for the midwest prairie lands. The severe cold was to continue through at least Wednesday, forecasters said.

The cold wave, headed eastward and southward, served to ease the tension in the flood-threatened areas along the upper Ohio river. In the eastern area, flood waters were causing some trouble in West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York. Hundreds were forced from their lowland homes.

South to Panhandle

The fresh mass of cold air was expected to dip into the south as far as Tennessee, Ketucky and Mississippi and touch into the Texas Panhandle region.

Temperatures dropped to 17 below zero at Cutbank, Mont., early today. It was -14 at Minot, N. D., and -2 at Rapid City, S. D.

Rivers receded slowly and a two-day downpour ended to lessen the flood peril in Northern California. Some 700 persons remained homeless but 4,300 others driven from their homes Sunday had returned. The San Joaquin river delta region, in the San Joaquin Valley near Vernalis, remained a danger spot.

Rain, sleet, snow and strong winds buffeted eastern states yesterday. Fears of a storm similar to the damaging one which whipped across the area 10 days

County Suffers Minor Damage

Temporary Bridge Carried Away at Big Indian; Traffic Restored

A rainstorm accompanied by moderately fresh winds struck this area Monday but damage in Ulster county was negligible compared with that caused by the storm of November 25.

A temporary bridge near the Big Indian Methodist Church was washed away by swollen waters of the upper Esopus creek, Trooper Ray Dunn reported, and Route 28 between Mt. Tremper and Phoenicia was flooded in several points, but normal traffic as far as Pine Hill had been restored by this morning.

The bridge at Big Indian had been erected by residents after the storm of a little over a week ago had washed out the regular bridge at that point.

Three-Inch Fall

The New York Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity reported nearly three inches of rain fell over the watershed in the 24-hour period which ended 8 a. m. today. The readings were: 2.97 inches at Brown Station, 2.90 inches at Phoenicia, and 2.83 at Claryville.

Power and telephone companies hardest hit by the previous storm experienced some difficulty in their Woodbourgh area where trees and power lines were downed, but normal service was restored.

Bond Issue Needed to Meet Change Required by Statute

Ulster county, which has been free of bonded indebtedness for many years, has been toppled from that enviable position by the high cost of government and a change in the law which makes it necessary to provide funds for a 14-month period instead of the usual year.

As a result the Board of Supervisors Monday evening, on recommendation of the budget committee, authorized a $205,000 bond issue to carry the county over the transitory period from October 31, to January 1, when the additional two months will be 'picked up' to place the county on a calendar year in the future.

Not for Roads

This $205,000 bond issue will not be used to meet the cost of repairs to bridges or roads which were destroyed or damaged by the disastrous flood which visited sections of the county a week ago. To finance that emergency cost the budget committee recommended that additional bonds be sold during 1951 to meet the cost, such bond issue to be in an amount not to exceed $500,000. The exact amount of damage done is not known at this time but has been estimated by County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran at a half million dollars.

Budget Approved

The board also approved unanimously the budget for next year. This revised budget calls for raising by direct taxation the sum of $1,668,022.61. This is $281,420 less than the tentative budget which was submitted at the public hearing. The reduction is accountable through the bond issue which changes a "debt retirement" item in the tentative budget and through the elimination of an item of $60,000 for the "capital construction fund," reducing the bridge fund by $115,000 and a reduction in various other items.

Report Is Made

The budget was presented by the budget committee and unanimously adopted and the resolution appropriating the moneys was also unanimously adopted. In presenting the revised budget the committee submitted the following report:

"Your committee respectfully reports as follows:

"The extraordinary flood damage to county bridges and highways in the towns of Shandaken, Denning and Hardenbergh, as the result of the storm of November 25 and 26, has presented your committee with a grave financial problem. In the opinion of the county superintendent of highways it will require an expenditure of approximately $500,000 to reconstruct, repair and restore the bridges and highways damaged as the result of this storm.

"In preparing this year's budget your committee was first confronted with the problems which were created because of the requirement of the new county law that we go on a budget system. In order to make the transition from the old to the new system it is necessary to provide funds for a 14-month period rather than a 12 month period because of the change from the fiscal year to the calendar year. This is an unusual problem and will not recur. In preparing the budget your committee also had to meet the problems presented by rising governmental costs generally. However, the most serious problem was that presented by the extraordinary flood damage to which we have just referred.

Two Alternatives

"To meet all these problems we had two alternatives available to us. On the one hand we could recommend for adoption a budget which would provide the money to meet all these costs in one year. Such a budget would result in a tax rate so high as to be prohibitive. Your committee cannot recommend such a course of action. The only alternative to the adoption of such a budget would be to finance by means of a bond issue the costs of making the

Six Countries Call Upon U.N. to Stop Chinese in Korea

Demand Filed Formally With Lie; Will Be Basis for Debate on Subject

Lake Success, Dec. 5 (AP)—Six countries, including the Big Three western powers, called upon the United Nations Assembly today to act immediately to stop Communist China's intervention in Korea.

The demand was contained in a formal memorandum filed with U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie by the United States, Britain, France, Ecuador, Cuba and Norway. It followed yesterday's request that the Chinese intervention be put before the 60-nation Assembly for debate.

The new document was both brief and mildly worded. It was submitted to conform to Assembly rules which require an explanatory memorandum to accompany any request for taking up new business.

It will be a basis for discussion by the 14-nation steering committee which was called for later today. If the steering committee gives the go ahead, the full Assembly will decide whether to give the question a full airing.

Main Points

The memorandum made these main points:

1. Chinese Communist troops are fighting against U.N. forces in Korea.

2. An attempt was made in the Security Council to get them to withdraw but Russia vetoed the proposal.

It then added:

"Under these circumstances, the delegations of Cuba, France, Ecuador, Norway, United Kingdom and the United States believe that the Assembly should

London Source Reports President, Attlee Agree United Nations Forces Should Return to Korea, if Ousted by Chinese Reds

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—President Truman said today United Nations forces in Korea are fighting "against tremendous odds." But he declared that no matter what happens there the fight for freedom will go on.

His somber-toned report came amid growing talk in Congress and elsewhere that the U.N. military situation was begun to appear almost hopeless and may force a Dunkerque-type withdrawal by sea.

Mr. Truman took time out from a busy, almost-continual round of conferences with American military and diplomatic advisers, and with Prime Minister Attlee of Britain, to address the White House conference of children and youth.

Stressed in Speech

His prepared speech stressed (1) the precarious situation in Korea and the "grave risk" of a general war, and (2) the nature of the present crisis as only part of the long-range struggle "to uphold the values of peace and justice and freedom."

Beyond stressing the tremendous odds the U.N. forces face, Mr. Truman made no assessment of the Korean situation.

And against the talk of a possible evacuation of the troops there, some of the best informed officials are saying it is still too early to predict what will actually happen or that the U.N. forces will have to get out of Korea entirely.

Bradley Attends

Mr. Truman and Prime Minister Attlee reviewed the situation yesterday with Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, in the first of their crisis talks. Bradley is reported to have told them that evacuation plans are ready if they have to be used.

In his address to the Conference on Children and Youth, the President said that the intervention of Chinese Communists in Korea had greatly changed the situation confronting this nation. Then, in a sentence interpreted by some officials as his first move to prepare

Macy Loses First Round in Battle To Retain Office

Application for Injunction Denied by Justice Stoddart; Cites Other Action

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, Suffolk county Republican, today lost the first round in his legal fight to retain his seat in Congress.

Supreme Court Justice Percy D. Stoddart denied, on technical grounds, Macy's application for an injunction to prevent certification of Ernest Greenwood, Democrat-Liberal, as the successful candidate in the Nov. 7 election.

An official canvass of the election returns showed that Macy lost to Greenwood by 138 votes. Macy then charged irregularities and illegal voting involving 520 ballots cast in Nassau county. The first congressional district, which is involved in the fight, embraces all of Suffolk county and a number of districts in Nassau.

Justice's Ruling

Justice Stoddart held that he could not grant the relief sought under the type of action brought by Macy.

The court said:

"After an examination of the many authorities, I have concluded that this court may not grant the relief sought, that the petitioner should start an action of quo warranto in which it may be determined whether any fraud was committed."

Under quo warranto proceeding, Greenwood would be required to show by what right he exercised any office.

S. Martin Adelman, head of the law committee of the Suffolk County Republican Committee, said he had no comment at this time as to whether a new action would be started. Macy was not present at the court session.

Red Return Is Reported By Refugees

Chinese Find Empty Prize; Allied Rear Guards Blasted All Bridges

May Stay at Seoul

Stand Might Be Made at South Korean City, Is Report

Tokyo, Dec. 5 (AP)—The big Red Chinese army was reported entering abandoned Pyongyang tonight on a momentous face-saving mission for Soviet-sponsored communism in the Orient.

United Nations forces representing 53 non-Communist countries had driven the broken and fleeing Red Korean army from their Pyongyang capital Oct. 20.

Tuesday, before overwhelming pressure from vanguards of the 1,000,000-man Chinese Communist army assembled for Red Korea, the last U.N. troops pulled wearily out of Pyongyang in retreat to the south.

The Chinese "liberators" found the Red capital a flaming, smoking city, ravaged of installations and supplies that might be of military advantage.

The Red return was certain to be hailed throughout the Communist world.

First reports of Pyongyang's return to Red control came from late arrivals among the Korean refugees swarming south out of the city. They said Chinese troops forded the icy Taedong river that cuts through a section of Pyongyang.

The one-time city of 300,000 population was something of an empty prize. Thosands of Koreans had fled in terror of the Red return.

Bridges Are Blown

Allied rear guards left the city earlier Tuesday after blasting the last bridges on the Taedong.

The most threatening of these was aimed at Hamhung. Chinese attacked at nightfall Tuesday against U. S. Third Division troops near Singpung, 15 air miles west of the big industrial city.

Thousands of Korean civilians were streaming south from the area north of Hamhung.

On the northwest front, there was no major contact reported with the Chinese. The Eighth Army's retreat on wheels was too fast for the foot-slogging Chinese.

One small engagement was reported on the Eighth Army's left flank, south of Pyongyang.

No Indication Where

There was no indication as to where or when the Eighth Army would make a stand. AP Correspondent Leif Erickson, at Eighth Army headquarters, suggested it might go all the way to the Seoul-Inchon area, 165 road miles south of Pyongyang.

The Eighth Army faced the mounting threat of a flanking move by Chinese swarming down the rugged and lightly defended center of the Korean Peninsula.

Allied airmen reported hammering a 2,000-man concentration of Red Chinese Tuesday afternoon at Koksan, 50 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

Eighth Army headquarters said this force posted a potential enveloping threat to allied troops in the area. The Chinese force was only 35 miles from the retreat route of the Eighth Army.

Guerrillas Give Trouble

Guerrillas mounted harassing attacks for another 50 miles south of Koksan.

General MacArthur's headquarters said guerrillas had stepped up attacks so sharply that it was im-

Koreans Excepted, U.S. Has Sustained Top Casualties

(By The Associated Press)

With the exception of the Koreans themselves, the United States has contributed the most and suffered by far the greatest casualties in the United Nations war to turn back Communist aggression in Korea.

The total number of Americans fighting on the ground in Korea is estimated at about 100,000. Probably about 28,000 more naval and air force men have been engaged. Casualties of all three services total 31,784, including 4,789 killed, 21,900 wounded and 5,018 missing. These casualties include only those whose next of kin had been notified up to Dec. 4.

Unofficial estimates have placed the number in the ROK (Republic of Korea) Army at about 100,000. The Korean defense minister said on Dec. 2 he believed nearly 1,000,000 South Korean soldiers, police and civilians had died. He did not disclose how he arrived at the estimate. Previously, President Syngman Rhee had given a rough estimate of 100,000 military and 200,000 civilian deaths. He said his estimate was based on the reports of governors, magistrates and police.

Five other nations have about 17,900 men in action in Korea. Available reports, admittedly incomplete, indicate they have suffered about 349 casualties.

These figures would indicate that the United States has fur-

Bridges Are Blown

Allied rear guards left the city earlier Tuesday after blasting the last bridges on the Taedong.

The most threatening of these was aimed at Hamhung. Chinese attacked at nightfall Tuesday against U. S. Third Division troops near Singpung, 15 air miles west of the big industrial city.

Thousands of Korean civilians were streaming south from the area north of Hamhung.

On the northwest front, there was no major contact reported with the Chinese. The Eighth Army's retreat on wheels was too fast for the foot-slogging Chinese.

One small engagement was reported on the Eighth Army's left flank, south of Pyongyang.

No Indication Where

There was no indication as to where or when the Eighth Army would make a stand. AP Correspondent Leif Erickson, at Eighth Army headquarters, suggested it might go all the way to the Seoul-Inchon area, 165 road miles south of Pyongyang.

The Eighth Army faced the mounting threat of a flanking move by Chinese swarming down the rugged and lightly defended center of the Korean Peninsula.

Allied airmen reported hammering a 2,000-man concentration of Red Chinese Tuesday afternoon at Koksan, 50 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

Eighth Army headquarters said this force posted a potential enveloping threat to allied troops in the area. The Chinese force was only 35 miles from the retreat route of the Eighth Army.

Guerrillas Give Trouble

Guerrillas mounted harassing attacks for another 50 miles south of Koksan.

General MacArthur's headquarters said guerrillas had stepped up attacks so sharply that it was im-

Koreans Excepted, U.S. Has Sustained Top Casualties

(By The Associated Press)

With the exception of the Koreans themselves, the United States has contributed the most and suffered by far the greatest casualties in the United Nations war to turn back Communist aggression in Korea.

The total number of Americans fighting on the ground in Korea is estimated at about 100,000. Probably about 26,000 more naval and air force men have been engaged. Casualties of all three services total 31,784, including 4,789 killed, 21,900 wounded and 5,018 missing. These casualties include only those whose next of kin had been notified up to Dec. 4.

Unofficial estimates have placed the number in the ROK (Republic of Korea) Army at about 100,000. The Korean defense minister said on Dec. 2 he believed nearly 1,000,000 South Korean soldiers, police and civilians had died. He did not disclose how he arrived at the estimate. Previously, President Syngman Rhee had given a rough estimate of 100,000 military and 200,000 civilian deaths. He said his estimate was based on the reports of governors, magistrates and police.

Five other nations have about 17,900 men in action in Korea. Available reports, admittedly incomplete, indicate they have suffered about 349 casualties.

These figures would indicate that the United States has fur-

Suspensions Hit Bergen County; Some Resignations

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 5 (AP)—A wave of suspensions and resignations swept Bergen county law enforcement offices yesterday taking some top officials with it.

Five men in all, including Chief of Bergen County Detectives Michael Orecchio, ended up on the outside looking in as the state sought a pat-hand in its investigation of big-time gambling in northern New Jersey.

Last night's suspension of Orecchio capped a busy day during which speculation mounted as to who was to become the new county prosecutor in place of the suspended Walter G. Winne.

That appointment is being held up by Attorney General Theodore D. Parsons who said he wants to be sure he gets a "man of impeccable character and with no previous association with racketeers." He said he'd probably appoint the new prosecutor this week, however.

Announced by Stamler

The suspension of Orecchio, long associated with law enforcement in Bergen county, was announced by Deputy Attorney General Nelson F. Stamler who took over the prosecutor's office from Winne pending the new appointment.

Stamler said Orecchio "failed to properly investigate gambling complaints turned over to him" and restrained those under him from "making investigations into complaints of gambling" in the county.

One other member of the old county prosecutor's staff was suspended and three others handed in their resignations for "ill health and personal reasons" yesterday.

Bergen County Detective Captain John Ducoff got the ax from Stamler who said Ducoff would be charged with quashing a traffic ticket for Max Stark, the Teaneck check casher who was convicted in New York of conspiring to violate New Jersey gambling laws.

The others whose resignations were announced by Stamler were:

John E. Guidetti, lieutenant of detectives on Winne's staff, and Investigators Herman Smith of Englewood, Anthony Gajewski, former mayor of Wallington, and ames Millington.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father who passed away one year ago today, December 5, 1949.

A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is stilled
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love had given
And though the body slumbers here

Railroad Worker Dead; Falls From Coaling Station

James J. Ryan of 82 Pine Grove avenue, a railroad employe, was dead on arrival at the Kingston Hospital shortly before 11 a. m. today.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, withholding his official verdict until after an autopsy, said Ryan fell from the catwalk on the high coal pockets of the New York Central Railroad's north yard.

The result of the autopsy was awaited to determine whether death was accidental from the fall, or whether Ryan suffered a heart attack.

Kelly said there was only one witness J. E. McCartney, of North Bergen, N. J., who was working on an engine nearby.

Ryan was removed to the Kingston Hospital in the W. N. Conner ambulance, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

An investigation was being conducted at the railroad yard this afternoon by Troopers J. R. Ayers and Ralph Nicodemus of the State Police station, Lake Katrine.

The stream of lava still was from two to two and a half miles away.

SaysSpeedControls Would Have Made L.I. Train Stop

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—The "disastrous" effect of the Thanksgiving eve wreck on the Long Island Railroad would have been prevented or reduced if there had been automatic speed controls, the State Public Service Commission was told yesterday.

The testimony was given by Samuel B. Higginbottom, signal engineer for the line.

The commission is one of several agencies investigating the collision in Richmond Hill, Queens, which took 78 lives and injured more than 300 other persons. An express train crashed into the rear of a local, which had been stalled by brake trouble.

Higginbottom said he understood that the controls would automatically set brakes if signal instructions were disobeyed by the motorman.

Previous testimony indicated that the express—whose motorman died in the crash—was traveling at a substantially greater speed than the 15 miles an hour prescribed by the signals.

Would Have Cut Speed

Higginbottom said the controls he mentioned would "unquestionably have cut the speed of the train down to the predetermined speed."

The witness said the controls are used by five railroads in the country.

While the hearing was in progress, it was disclosed that William H. Draper was the only person being considered so far for appointment as single trustee to take over the bankrupt railroad.

Draper, investment expert and former undersecretary of the army, is the nominee of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's special commission to study the railroads problems and map a rehabilitation program.

Federal Judge Harold M. Kennedy, who is in charge of the line's bankruptcy, told Draper in a letter that his name was the only one submitted by "responsible persons." The judge said, however, that he still was ready to consider other names with "responsible" backing. The judge will hold a public hearing on the trusteeship Friday.

Arranges Inspection

At the judge's suggestion, Draper arranged to inspect the railroad today on a special train. He was to be accompanied by David E. Smucker, the Long Island's chief of operations. The governor's commission also was to be represented on the trip.

Smucker, a veteran railroad man, and Hunter L. Delatour, formerly Judge Kennedy's law associate, resigned last Thursday as joint trustees of the railroad. Gov. Dewey and other officials had demanded their resignations, and a court suit for ouster had been filed.

Farmer Is Acquitted

Ringgold, Ga., Dec. 5 (AP)—A 40-year-old farmer, accused of dragging his wife to death behind an automobile, was acquitted of murder last night by a jury of north Georgia farmers. Sheriff J. M. Moreland and the Georgia Bureau of Investigation charged that Charles Stancil had tied a wire cable around the neck of his wife Opal and dragged her along an unpaved road until she died. The state sought to prove that Stancil was angered by his wife's attention to another man. Sheriff's Deputy J. V. O'Neal testified he found a length of wire and a chain, fashioned into a noose, in Stancil's automobile, but added that he found no bloodstains. Two defense witnesses said Stancil had driven to Cleveland, Tenn., the night of the woman's death.

Discrimination Charged

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Two families living in Levittown have charged racial discrimination and violation of civil liberties in suits to prevent the landlord from evicting them. The two couples complained in State Supreme Court yesterday that they were told to vacate their houses at the end of their leases because of objections to their having Negro children play with their own children on the lawns adjoining their homes in the huge private housing development. Justice Percy D. Stoddard reserved decision.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—The stock market today bounced back after yesterday's fall.

The rally was feeble, though, in comparison with the severity of the Monday slump. A wide variety of shares advanced a few cents to more than $1 a share—which contrasted with losses running to around $4 a share yesterday.

Most of the gains today were scored immediately after the market opened. In fast turnover steels, rails and motors paced a general rise. Keen buying interest soon faded and most issues slipped a bit from their high marks of the day. Trading slowed after the first rush was over.

There was nothing fresh in the news concerning Korea that might account for the recovery. Nor were traders any less pessimistic in anticipating stiff tax increases and wider government controls.

A bad break such as yesterday, however, is frequently followed by a rally. Bargain hunters, for one thing, are often attracted by lower prices. Covering of previous short sales contributes additional support.

Among the better performers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Nickel Plate, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Distillers Corp., Emerson Radio, Phelps Dodge Copper, Air Reduction, Dow Chemical, duPont, General Electric, Standard Oil (N. J.) and U. S. Gypsum.

Some railway bonds took their cue from rising stock prices.

Detection Sought Of Killer Who Cut Woman to Pieces

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Every detection resource of New York city police department was mobilized today to find the butcher killer who left seven pieces of a woman's body in two Brooklyn baggage lockers.

The dismembered victim, a tall, slim redhead about 35 years old, was found yesterday—neatly packed into two cheap suitcases and stored in adjoining public lockers of a Long Island Railroad station.

She apparently had been strangled—and the crafty killer had removed her teeth, her eyes, and her hands to prevent identification.

She lay there for a week, while 600,000 persons passed only a few feet from the locker doors, until the odor of decomposition speeded the discovery.

By an adverse quirk of fate, police found themselves working a cold, seven-day-old trail where they normally might have expected not more than 24 hours' delay.

Was Placed November 27

According to the record of the locks, the body was placed there Nov. 27.

Failing payment of another 10-cent fee at the self-service lockers, the contents normally would have been removed to a storage room the next day.

But Baggageman Raymond B. Smith, 51, was on vacation and his helper, Lawrence Cappellano, 23, (of 146-16 116th avenue, Ozone Park, Queens) didn't get to the lockers until last Thursday. Then he thought the bags looked like Salvation Army gear and "decided to give the guys a break."

Smith Returns

Smith returned yesterday, noticed a sickening smell while making his rounds, and discovered a black suitcase.

In the suitcase police found the woman's head and trunk. Police opened the other locker and found five more pieces—pelvis, thighs and legs. The medical examiner said the cutting job was neat, but not scientific in the fashion of a dissecting room.

The clues were meagre.

Because of the decomposition the examiners could not decide immediately whether the killer had wrenched out the woman's teeth or whether she had false plates.

With eyes and fingerprints gone, the only body clues were the scar of an appendicitis operation and some moles on her right foot. She was about five-feet-eight, 105 pounds, with a fair skin.

A complete autopsy was set for today.

Rent Control Approved

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—A 90-day extension of rent controls was approved today by the House Banking Committee. The committee voted 17 to 3 to keep the law on the books until March 31, three months beyond its expiration date, and give the incoming 82nd Congress time to decide on some final action after it meets in January. A 60-day extension now is being debated by the Senate.

Yaras to Be Tried

Jury Selection Begins

Selection of a jury began this morning at 10 o'clock and instead of each juror being examined separately as is customary in criminal cases, the jury box was filled and the examination of jurors proceeded in a manner similar to that pursued in civil matters. This was done by consent of counsel.

Haver questioned the nine women and three men who were originally summoned, excused by consent two of the women, who were replaced by men and then the examination of the panel was taken up by Judge Cook immediately prior to the noon recess.

Extra Panel Drawn

An extra panel of 40 jurors was drawn Monday afternoon to report this morning at 10 but because of the difficulty in serving the jurors on so short notice only a portion of the jurors were present at 10 o'clock today. Of those who reported seven were excused. Counsel in the case waived any defect in the service of jurors and Justice Elsworth stated he would swear and hear excuses of jurors as they appeared after service had been effected.

There were 51 jurors present ready for service.

The first juror called was Edward F. Brown, 30 Pine street, Kingston, a carpenter who served on the Edward Kelly first degree murder case recently when Kelly was found guilty of murdering Mrs. Eloise McHugh.

First Train Monday

A Wallkill Valley freight train which arrived in Kingston Monday morning was the first train to make use of the new detour tracks in the Broadway crossing project area. The detour was constructed to permit running trains around the area while excavation is in progress for the grade separation on central Broadway. Main line trains are expected to begin using the detour in about a week.

Suspensions Hit Bergen County; Some Resignations

Hackensack, N. J., Dec. 5 (AP)—A wave of suspensions and resignations swept Bergen county law enforcement offices yesterday taking some top officials with it.

Five men in all, including Chief of Bergen County Detectives Michael Orecchio, ended up on the outside looking in as the state sought a pat-hand in its investigation of big-time gambling in northern New Jersey.

Last night's suspension of Orecchio capped a busy day during which speculation mounted as to who was to become the new county prosecutor in place of the suspended Walter G. Winne.

That appointment is being held up by Attorney General Theodore D. Parsons who said he wants to be sure he gets a "man of impeccable character and with no previous association with racketeers." He said he'd probably appoint the new prosecutor this week, however.

Announced by Stamler

The suspension of Orecchio, long associated with law enforcement in Bergen county, was announced by Deputy Attorney General Nelson F. Stamler who took over the prosecutor's office from Winne pending the new appointment.

Stamler said Orecchio "failed to properly investigate gambling complaints turned over to him" and restrained those under him from "making investigations into complaints of gambling" in the county.

One other member of the old county prosecutor's staff was suspended and three others handed in their resignations for "ill health and personal reasons" yesterday.

Bergen County Detective Captain John Ducoff got the ax from Stamler who said Ducoff would be charged with quashing a traffic ticket for Max Stark, the Teaneck check casher who was convicted in New York of conspiring to violate New Jersey gambling laws.

The others whose resignations were announced by Stamler were: John E. Guidetti, lieutenant of detectives on Winne's staff, and Investigators Herman Smith of Englewood, Anthony Gajewski, former mayor of Wallington, and ames Millington.

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father who passed away one year ago today, December 5, 1949.

A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is stilled
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love had given
And though the body slumbers here

Railroad Worker Dead; Falls From Coaling Station

James J. Ryan of 82 Pine Grove avenue, a railroad employe, was dead on arrival at the Kingston Hospital shortly before 11 a. m. today.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly, withholding his official verdict until after an autopsy, said Ryan fell from the catwalk on the high coal pockets of the New York Central Railroad's north yard.

The result of the autopsy was awaited to determine whether death was accidental from the fall, or whether Ryan suffered a heart attack.

Kelly said there was only one witness J. E. McCartney, of North Bergen, N. J., who was working on an engine nearby.

Ryan was removed to the Kingston Hospital in the W. N. Conner ambulance, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

An investigation was being conducted at the railroad yard this afternoon by Troopers J. R. Ayers and Ralph Nicodemus of the State Police station, Lake Katrine.

The stream of lava still was from two to two and a half miles away.

SaysSpeedControls Would Have Made L.I. Train Stop

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—The "disastrous" effect of the Thanksgiving eve wreck on the Long Island Railroad would have been prevented or reduced if there had been automatic speed controls, the State Public Service Commission was told yesterday.

The testimony was given by Samuel B. Higginbottom, signal engineer for the line.

The commission is one of several agencies investigating the collision in Richmond Hill, Queens, which took 78 lives and injured more than 300 other persons. An express train crashed into the rear of a local, which had been stalled by brake trouble.

Higginbottom said he understood that the controls would automatically set brakes if signal instructions were disobeyed by the motorman.

Previous testimony indicated that the express—whose motorman died in the crash—was traveling at a substantially greater speed than the 15 miles an hour prescribed by the signals.

Would Have Cut Speed

Higginbottom said the controls he mentioned would "unquestionably have cut the speed of the train down to the predetermined speed."

The witness said the controls are used by five railroads in the country.

While the hearing was in progress, it was disclosed that William H. Draper was the only person being considered so far for appointment as single trustee to take over the bankrupt railroad.

Draper, investment expert and former undersecretary of the army, is the nominee of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's special commission to study the railroads problems and map a rehabilitation program.

Federal Judge Harold M. Kennedy, who is in charge of the line's bankruptcy, told Draper in a letter that his name was the only one submitted by "responsible persons." The judge said, however, that he still was ready to consider other names with "responsible" backing. The judge will hold a public hearing on the trusteeship Friday.

Arranges Inspection

At the judge's suggestion, Draper arranged to inspect the railroad today on a special train. He was to be accompanied by David E. Smucker, the Long Island's chief of operations. The governor's commission also was to be represented on the trip.

Smucker, a veteran railroad man, and Hunter L. Delatour, formerly Judge Kennedy's law associate, resigned last Thursday as joint trustees of the railroad. Gov. Dewey and other officials had demanded their resignations, and a court suit for ouster had been filed.

Farmer Is Acquitted

Ringgold, Ga., Dec. 5 (AP)—A 40-year-old farmer, accused of dragging his wife to death behind an automobile, was acquitted of murder last night by a jury of north Georgia farmers. Sheriff J. M. Moreland and the Georgia Bureau of Investigation charged that Charles Stancil had tied a wire cable around the neck of his wife Opal and dragged her along an unpaved road until she died. The state sought to prove that Stancil was angered by his wife's attention to another man. Sheriff's Deputy J. V. O'Neal testified he found a length of wire and a chain, fashioned into a noose, in Stancil's automobile, but added that he found no bloodstains. Two defense witnesses said Stancil had driven to Cleveland, Tenn., the night of the woman's death.

Discrimination Charged

Mineola, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Two families living in Levittown have charged racial discrimination and violation of civil liberties in suits to prevent the landlord from evicting them. The two couples complained in State Supreme Court yesterday that they were told to vacate their houses at the end of their leases because of objections to their having Negro children play with their own children on the lawns adjoining their homes in the huge private housing development. Justice Percy D. Stoddard reserved decision.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—The stock market today bounced back after yesterday's fall.

The rally was feeble, though, in comparison with the severity of the Monday slump. A wide variety of shares advanced a few cents to more than $1 a share—which contrasted with losses running to around $4 a share yesterday.

Most of the gains today were scored immediately after the market opened. In fast turnover steels, rails and motors paced a general rise. Keen buying interest soon faded and most issues slipped a bit from their high marks of the day. Trading slowed after the first rush was over.

There was nothing fresh in the news concerning Korea that might account for the recovery. Nor were traders any less pessimistic in anticipating stiff tax increases and wider government controls.

A bad break such as yesterday, however, is frequently followed by a rally. Bargain hunters, for one thing, are often attracted by lower prices. Covering of previous short sales contributes additional support.

Among the better performers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Nickel Plate, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Distillers Corp., Emerson Radio, Phelps Dodge Copper, Air Reduction, Dow Chemical, duPont, General Electric, Standard Oil (N. J.) and U. S. Gypsum.

Some railway bonds took their cue from rising stock prices.

Detection Sought Of Killer Who Cut Woman to Pieces

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Every detection resource of New York city police department was mobilized today to find the butcher killer who left seven pieces of a woman's body in two Brooklyn baggage lockers.

The dismembered victim, a tall, slim redhead about 35 years old, was found yesterday—neatly packed into two cheap suitcases and stored in adjoining public lockers of a Long Island Railroad station.

She apparently had been strangled—and the crafty killer had removed her teeth, her eyes, and her hands to prevent identification.

She lay there for a week, while 600,000 persons passed only a few feet from the locker doors, until the odor of decomposition speeded the discovery.

By an adverse quirk of fate, police found themselves working a cold, seven-day-old trail where they normally might have expected not more than 24 hours' delay.

Was Placed November 27

According to the record of the locks, the body was placed there Nov. 27.

Failing payment of another 10-cent fee at the self-service lockers, the contents normally would have been removed to a storage room the next day.

But Baggageman Raymond B. Smith, 51, was on vacation and his helper, Lawrence Cappellano, 23, (of 146-16 116th avenue, Ozone Park, Queens) didn't get to the lockers until last Thursday. Then he thought the bags looked like Salvation Army gear and "decided to give the guys a break."

Smith Returns

Smith returned yesterday, noticed a sickening smell while making his rounds, and discovered a black suitcase.

In the suitcase police found the woman's head and trunk. Police opened the other locker and found five more pieces—pelvis, thighs and legs. The medical examiner said the cutting job was neat, but not scientific in the fashion of a dissecting room.

The clues were meagre.

Because of the decomposition, the examiners could not decide immediately whether the killer had wrenched out the woman's teeth or whether she had false plates.

With eyes and fingerprints gone, the only body clues were the scar of an appendicitis operation and some moles on her right foot. She was about five-feet-eight, 105 pounds, with a fair skin.

A complete autopsy was set for today.

CONNELLY

Connelly, Dec. 5—A dental clinic for all children of the Town of Esopus from three to five years, who are not in the first grade, will be held at the health center in Port Ewen, on December 19. At the clinic children will have their teeth examined and arrangements may be made for application of sodium fluoride to prevent decay. Arrangements for the clinic may be made by phoning Mrs. John Fitzgerald, 2194.

A meeting of the fire commissioners of the district will be held at the firehouse this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davis have moved from the Wolfersteig apartment to the apartment in the J. H. Vogt house.

Rent Control Approved

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—A 90-day extension of rent controls was approved today by the House Banking Committee. The committee voted 17 to 3 to keep the law on the books until March 31, three months beyond its expiration date, and give the incoming 82nd Congress time to decide on some final action after it meets in January. A 60-day extension now is being debated by the Senate.

Yaras to Be Tried

Jury Selection Begins

Selection of a jury began this morning at 10 o'clock and instead of each juror being examined separately as is customary in criminal cases, the jury box was filled and the examination of jurors proceeded in a manner similar to that pursued in civil matters. This was done by consent of counsel.

Haver questioned the nine women and three men who were originally summoned, excused by consent two of the women, who were replaced by men and then the examination of the panel was taken up by Judge Cook immediately prior to the noon recess.

Extra Panel Drawn

An extra panel of 40 jurors was drawn Monday afternoon to report this morning at 10 but because of the difficulty in serving the jurors on so short notice only a portion of the jurors were present at 10 o'clock today. Of those who reported seven were excused. Counsel in the case waived any defect in the service of jurors and Justice Elsworth stated he would swear and hear excuses of jurors as they appeared after service had been effected.

There were 51 jurors present ready for service.

The first juror called was Edward F. Brown, 30 Pine street, Kingston, a carpenter who served on the Edward Kelly first degree murder case recently when Kelly was found guilty of murdering Mrs. Eloise McHugh.

First Train Monday

A Wallkill Valley freight train which arrived in Kingston Monday morning was the first train to make use of the new detour tracks in the Broadway crossing project area. The detour was constructed to permit running trains around the area while excavation is in progress for the grade separation on central Broadway. Main line trains are expected to begin using the detour in about a week.

County Seal Sale Is Now 42 Per Cent Of $22,000 Total

As the 1950 Christmas Seal Sale in Ulster county enters the second week, Edmund P. Rochford, county seal sale chairman, today announced that returns totaled $9,319.90 or 42 per cent of the county quota of $22,000. Funds from this year's Christmas Seal Sale will finance the 1951 tuberculosis prevention and control program of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association which is conducting the Seal Sale.

"The quota set for the county is the minimum needed to carry on the association's work through the coming year," Chairman Rochford stressed. "Of the proceeds, 18 per cent will be forwarded to the State Tuberculosis Association, and the State Association will allocate six per cent of this sum to the National Tuberculosis Association with which the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association and the State Tuberculosis Association are affiliated."

Chairman Rochford pointed out that most of the funds realized from the Christmas Seal Sale remain in Ulster county to support such projects of the association as assistance with community chest X-rays surveys, transportation of patients who need it for clinical service, nutrition and general health education for schools and community groups, as well as health education, promotion, and demonstrations in tuberculosis, social hygiene, and in mental health.

Solicitations Group Is Named by C. of C.

A solicitations control committee has been named by the Kingston Chamber of Commerce as the result of many recent inquiries. An official spokesman for the Chamber said today that a study by this committee will be composed of two parts; the regulation of control of miscellaneous solicitations and a canvass of the situation involving the Community Chest idea. Many voluntary workers recently found themselves working on four or five drives at the same time.

The solicitations control committee will hold its first meeting Thursday night, Dec. 7. The public and all concerned are invited to make suggestions or express their opinion regarding the entire question of solicitations. The spokesman said that the problem is very complex because practically all of the solicitations are for worthwhile purposes. However, some degree of control is badly needed before all of them are seriously handicapped by adverse public sentiment and the unfavorable reaction going too far. The basic idea is to help rather than harm all worthwhile solicitations. It is hoped that some solution can be recommended for general consideration.

FEMININE INFLUENCE

The Quebec Automobile Club has urged that girls influence their boy friends to drive safely. This is not silly. Far from it. Studies of accidents and their causes often center on the youngest group of drivers, those in their late teens and early twenties, as this group has a high accident rate. One of the conclusions of study is that the recklessness which so often characterizes drivers in this group is essentially a form of showing off.

Showing off is done from a variety of motives, but in the case of a lad of courting age it is usually for the benefit of the opposite sex. At that age he will perform prodigious labors in order to demonstrate his strength and endurance, and to exhibit his skill and daring he will do all sorts of tricks on a trapeze, on a bicycle, in a boat, or at the wheel of a car. On the trapeze he endangers no one but himself, but as he carries his showing off into more powerful machines he begins to embrace the whole community in the circle of peril he creates.

So girls can bring about safer driving by influencing their boy friends. It is not as simple as it sounds, however. A girl companion's simple suggestion to a young driver that he be cautious is more likely to be accepted as a dare than as sound advice. If everyone shunned the show-off driver, from genuine realization of the danger surrounding him, he might soon become a rarity. Here is something for parents and psychologists to work on.

LEARNING TO LIVE

Both men and women should be educated for the creation of a system of values, for the ability to make wise choices, for the establishment of a workable philosophy of life, and for the ability to make a worthwhile contribution to society, says Dr. Sarah G. Blanding, president of Vassar College.

The courses of study which tend toward these achievements for women are covered by the same liberal arts program which is furnished to men, she asserts. The skills which women need for homemaking may be easily acquired if they have been taught to think any problem through and to apply their ability to see beyond immediate objectives to basic values.

The results of education for "the age of specialization" have not all been desirable. The modern tendency, in education for both men and women, is to superimpose their specialized training upon the broad general basis of a liberal arts course. This is better calculated to produce a well-rounded individual who can meet life with equanimity upon any level.

LUCKY FOOTBALL COACH

Yale University has just given its football coach, Herman Hickman, an unusual vote of confidence. He has signed a ten-year contract. Few football coaches have been able to keep their posts for the twelve years now assured Hickman, the two he has already served and the ten provided in his new contract. Michigan's famous Fielding H. "Hurry-up" Yost and Chicago's Alonzo Stagg were conspicuous exceptions. They have few parallels.

Usually a single season that brings more than the usual proportion of defeats has the alumni howling for the coach's scalp, and two such seasons in a row are sure to bring that result. Naturally a coach is better able to make long-range plans if his job does not depend on winning every Saturday.

Many a baseball manager will read with envy of the vote of confidence awarded Hickman.

Those in other parts of the world who would doubt America's anticipation of a long, secure future should check over our life insurance purchases. The $2,570,000,000 bought in October was thirty-eight per cent more than in the same period last year.

If "Better late than never" had not been coined before, it certainly would have been invented for the automobile age.

They also serve who wait for the pedestrian to cross the street.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

DEAN ACHESON

I never understood Dean Acheson until I saw him on television last week.

The atmosphere of the day was tense. Americans were being killed—maybe your son. The newspaper headlines spoke of a possible Dunkirk. Nervously, we were asking why General Douglas MacArthur was not being permitted to take a real offensive position. I was actually in the company of a distinguished American soldier. Like millions of other Americans, we were waiting for word of hope. And we were frightened.

There sat Acheson, cold and aloof, a voice untampered by emotion, a face untouched by anxiety; he read a rigidly scholarly, a meticulously prepared objective study of a policy that died in the hills of Korea on June 25, 1950.

Bombs were exploding! Blood discolored Korean snow. MacArthur was fighting to save his men. Mothers were worried about conscription and mobilization. Stuart Symington was speaking of economic stresses.

Dean Acheson droned away, apparently unconscious of all this. He had written a learned document. He had written for the record and for posterity. No commas were out of place. No subjunctive was out of order. No clause had been left hanging. Here was the perfection of grammar, but not an inspiration in the thousands of words, not one enthusiasm.

Here sat an Englishman—a middle-class Englishman who had worked his way into the aristocracy, dressed as only a London tailor could turn out a gentleman. He was perfection itself.

Here sat an objective scholar writing history for the archives, like an ancient Mandarin preparing an eight-legged essay. Here sat an archeologist looking in the sands for a specimen of a forgotten civilization and a lost world. Here sat a professor of Indo-Aryan languages worrying about how differently the tongues of man described the cow.

It was frigid, aloof, distant, objective. It was the tone and manner of the superior intellect, forced by the vulgar circumstances of life to speak to those who ought to listen but who never, never could understand the world of great affairs in which only such as he could move.

Television does things to men that the radio never could do. It brings out personality in gesture, in stance, in posture, in voice. On television, Dean Acheson seemed to be a decorated icicle to whom nothing mattered but the written word—his own written word to be enjoyed only by the writer for whose sake it was written.

In our present crisis, this is not sufficient for national leadership. If, for any reason, Mr. Truman must keep Mr. Acheson, would it not be wise for him to have a consultative body whose experience and wisdom would aid him in forming decisions in critical matters? Certainly, it does not do for the President of the United States to give the impression in the morning, by whatever language, that he will or might or is considering the use of the A-bomb, and in the afternoon to revise his statement to conform to the law.

Such a consultative body as this would strengthen the President and rewin the confidence of our people: Herbert Hoover, Bernard Baruch, Senator Walter F. George, Senator Robert A. Taft, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, James F. Byrnes, General Albert C. Wedemeyer, Representative Christian Herter, and Representative John W. McCormack.

Some of these suggestions are obvious; others require some explanation. James Byrnes was at Potsdam and was practically pushed out of office by Dean Acheson. He ended his cabinet career utterly disillusioned about the Russians and has since become a leader of the Southern Democrats. These southerners are more antagonistic to the current management of our foreign policy than most Republicans. The President would do well to recognize their views from someone whose mind is more responsive than Senator Tom Connally's.

General Albert Wedemeyer's reports on China and Korea stand up. They establish beyond doubt his ability to study, analyze and judge the situation. Because his report displeased Dean Acheson, Wedemeyer was exiled to the presidio in California. His advice and counsel is needed—perhaps more than anybody else on this list.

Similarly among Republican members of Congress, Christian Herter of Massachusetts is particularly able and well-informed on international relations. In the current crisis, such a man could be invaluable to the President.

As matters stand now, the President can depend only on his secretary of state, whose concepts have been proved to be disastrously wrong by the course of events.

That Body of Yours

OPERATION FOR HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

We do not hear or read much about appendicitis anymore nor about the operation for removal of the appendix. What we do hear and read about is high blood pressure, because heart strokes (coronary thrombosis) and brain strokes (apoplexy), due to high blood pressure, are becoming increasingly common. Fortunately the family physician by using drugs to lower the blood pressure temporarily can relax both the blood vessels and the heart muscle, and even short rests take some work off the heart. In addition, the physican prescribes an easily-digested diet and cuts down the food intake, thus preventing overweight, a bad complication of high blood pressure.

Where drugs, diet and health suggestions fail to keep the blood pressure within safe limits, the operation known as sympathectomy (cutting the nerves supplying heart and bloodvessels) is being performed in many hospitals. Thus we read in the Journal of the American Medical Association of 292 patients in the public wards of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, operated on for high blood pressure. Most of these patients were free from any important heart or blood vessel complications. To supplement or give a complete history of the effects of this operation, Drs. Paul D. White, Boston, E. Grey Dimond, Kansas City, Kansas, and Armistead Williams, Richmond, Va. report in the Journal of the American Medical Association on a smaller but special group of 50 private patients also operated on at Massachusetts General Hospital. These 50 patients differed from the first group in that they did have imporant heart and blood vessel complications. Their progress was followed after operation by Dr. White and by Dr. R. H. Smithwick, the noted surgeon and the originator of the special operation used. Notwithstanding that this type of patient (with complications) is not considered a good risk, the results were very gratifying.

The results by sympathectomy are compared with results of 50 private patients with heart and blood vessel complications treated medically. After a three-year follow up of the 50 who had undergone operation, the result was excellent or good in 11 and fair with some definite improvement in 11, in 5 cases there was little or no change; 11 patients were worse and 12 were dead. The deaths at end of first year were two for those who had undergone operation and 8 for those treated medically; at end of 2 years, deaths were 6 and 16 respectfully; at end of 3 years, 8 and 29.

This means that selected cases of high blood pressure who have heart and blood vessel complications, do better under operation than those treated medically.

Hardly What One Would Call a Unanimous Decision

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It was partly a fluke that led to the Attlee-Truman conversation—one of the most important conferences since Potsdam. Regardless of the accidental inception, however, diplomats agree that the conversation has long been needed to bring greater synchronization of traditional British-American friendship.

The fluke was the President's off-the-cuff statement that we were considering dropping the atomic bomb and the inference that General MacArthur had been given a free hand as to when we should drop it.

This statement, made at a morning White House press conference, hit the British House of Commons late in the afternoon and left British Labor leaders gasping. They have had increasing misgivings about MacArthur, and were fully aware of the manner in which he had maneuvered around State Department proposals to keep U.N. armies away from the Chinese dams and the Manchurian border.

British Labor leaders did not then know that the President had made his atom-bomb statement in reply to oral newspaper queries and that it was not a carefully considered statement. Finally, they did not know that the President was in the process of issuing a clarifying statement—which came three hours later.

British Labor Rebels

By accident, it happened that the Truman A-bomb statement hit the House of Commons during a major foreign policy debate, with 63 Labor members led by Tom Driberg and Ian Mikardo, of Labor's national executive body, proposing high level conferences between the east and west before taking any further decisions on Korea.

Simultaneously came a speech by Anthony Eden demanding conferences between London and Washington, plus a London Daily Mail editorial goading Attlee with the taunt that Churchill would have been half-way across the Atlantic were he prime minister.

It was in this atmosphere of extreme criticism from both Conservatives and Labor that Prime Minister Attlee was shown the first Truman statement indicating that the dropping of the A-bomb was up to MacArthur. At this, about 100 Conservative members of Parliament left the chamber and signed a petition to Churchill stating that if the United States dropped the bomb Britain should pull out of Korea.

These are some of the factors behind Attlee's trip which he wanted to put before Truman.

Note — Three hours after the first Truman statement on the A-Bomb, came a clarifying White House statement that under the law only the President can authorize use of the atomic bomb and that no such authorization had been given to MacArthur.

Coffee and Defense

It may seem a long way between a coffee investigation staged by a senator from Iowa and this country's preparedness for war; yet there's a connection just the same.

The Senate investigation, staged by silver-crested, likeable Guy Gillette of Iowa, delved into increased coffee prices and speculation. Insofar as it dealt with coffee manipulation by the big chain grocery stores and the New York commodity market, the probe was justified. However, when it blamed Latin American coffee growers for price increases, it was like blaming Iowa corn farmers for the increased price of corn.

Thus the injustice of Gillette's probe, which made headlines in Latin America, was the biggest break the Communists ever had south of the Rio Grande. It also turned millions of hitherto friendly Latinos very sour indeed. Because Latin American coffee growers, like the farmer of Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, had suffered extremely lean years prior to the war. And the chief reason for increased coffee prices was identical with the reason for the increased price of American meat, corn, wheat and cotton—namely, that the world is consuming more.

Anyway, the State Department, aghast at the harm done our Good Neighbor policy by the Gillette coffee probe, placed all the facts before the Senate committee. Forthright Assistant Secretary Edward Miller warned that Gillette was playing into Communist hands, while farsighted Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico did his best to put the quietus on his colleague from Iowa.

We Need Latin America

But Gillette was stubborn. He had the support of "Cotton Elmer" Thomas of Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and he stood pat. What Gillette didn't figure on, however, was that Washington Merry-Go-Round exposures of Thomas's speculation in cotton, lard and eggs would defeat him at the polls.

Now that Thomas has been defeated, Senator Gillette is without a friendly committee chairman, and new Chairman Ellender of Louisiana plans to abolish the coffee-probe committee.

However, here is the unpleasant pay-off. The effect of the furore Gillette stirred up in Latin America is now coming back to slap us in the face, following the bad news from Korea and Indo-China.

Desperately short of manganese, we have turned to Brazil, which has the biggest manganese deposits in the Americas. But Brazil also happens to be the biggest coffee grower and is still smarting from the unfair accusations of the Gillette Committee. Though she is now helping us out on manganese, it is not with the same enthusiasm as in the last war.

Meanwhile, manganese is getting so short that refrigerators, automobiles, other civilian products are almost certain to be curtailed because of dwindling steel.

Othr strategic materials are also involved — materials which Latin America has and which we are going to need vitally in case of all-out war. All of which is why the American people—instead of throwing brickbats, as did Senator Gillette—need to get back to working at the good neighbor policy.

Magazine to Suspend

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Flair magazine will suspend publication after its January issue, a casualty of the tense Far East political situation. Gardner Cowles, president of Cowles Magazines, Inc., publishers of Flair, said yesterday that "the very critical foreign situation, the uncertainty of further increases in costs and the likelihood of limitations on paper availability in 1951 makes it unwise to continue the publication of Flair at this time." Flair will close exactly one year after it started publication as a "deluxe" literary, art and fashion magazine. It claimed a circulation of 200,000, including 90,000 subscribers.

Lack of Realism of State of War Causes Confusion Between Free World, Totalitarians

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 5—The free world—fumbling, debating, arguing for the self-interest of each member nation—is up against the totalitarian world where neither parliaments nor business, nor labor, nor allies have much to say about public policy.

This handicap, long expected to plague the free world in its hour of decision, is visible to everybody—including Russia. If all the nations in the free world were to recognize that a state of war already exists, there would be unity in a common cause and a measure of self-discipline. But there is no such realism.

American troops in large numbers are in Korea with other allied units to carry out a mission for the United Nations to halt aggression.

The U.N. troops are being beaten on the field of battle—they are meeting severe reverses after having been prevented from using air power against enemy concentrations across the Manchurian border.

What does the world hear from the principal members of the U.N.? From Britain and France come tirades against the American general. In the British Parliament, one cabinet minister says MacArthur exceeded U.N. directives. A member of the British government repudiates that charge and says MacArthur carried out U.N. objectives.

Hindsight is always better than foresight but what is inexplicable today is the assumption in European official quarters that if U.N. troops had stopped at the 38th Parallel or at an imaginary line north of it, the Chinese Communists would have promptly made peace and the U.N. mission into Korea would have been carried out successfully.

There is not the slightest evidence that there would have been any such acquiescence by the Communists' whose broadcasts from Peiping for several weeks have insisted only on the immediate and complete exodus of U.N. forces from Korea.

The decision which really hangs in the balance to be appraised one way or the other is the U.N. decision of June 26 to go into Korea. The moment the U.N. constituted itself as an international police force it could not revert to the status of a quasi-military or quasi-diplomatic organization which tries to tell troops to move into a country, then asks them to halt while the enemy is politely asked whether it will accept defeat. If the enemy says it won't do so, then there is evidently more debate on what to do about it while the enemy is given time to regroup his military forces.

If the U. N. now, having gone into Korea, in effect orders its military forces to evacuate what has been conquered, then the U.N. will lose the respect of many millions of Americans and there will be a demand for full freedom of action for the United States in world affairs—leaving it to America to decide hereafter when and where it will use its forces and its resources.

This is sometimes called "isolationism." More "isolationists" have been born in the last few days since the British government has enunciated its viewpoint than were bred since the 1920's. The demand for America to go its own way in world affairs—helping in Europe or in Asia as its resources permit—will become the demand of many political groups inside both major parties. Isolationism bored within the Democratic as well as the Republican party as late as 1932.

The situation today happens to fit a paragraph written by Owen Lattimore, the Far Eastern expert, in one of his books published in 1949 when he said:

" . . . Those who plan and carry out American policy will fall into a trap if they thnk that what is required of them is a decision between 'Europe first' and 'Asia first.' In 1946, 1947, and 1948 Europe fitted the combined specifications of the Communist theory of what constitutes an opportunty and the methods available to the Soviet state for exploiting an opportunity better than in Asia.

"In 1949 Asia fits the specifications better than Europe. But both then and now the situations in Europe and in Asia have never ceased to interact on each other."

It is the global aspect of America's responsibility and the U.N.'s responsibility, and the interdependence of policy in Europe and Asia which are being overlooked by those who today are counseling retreat and surrender in the Far East on the theory that this means a strengthened U.N. in Europe. Wherever the free world is beaten, its prestige goes down but it doesn't stay down if it heroically fights back as it did all the way from Bataan in 1941 to Tokyo in September 1945.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 4—One night the doorbell rang at the lovebower of George Spelvin, American, and, after some loud colloquy between Mrs. S. and an aggressive stranger, the master of the house hove the hulk out of his chair and went to see.

"What seems to be wrong here?" he demanded. "It is forbidden to use harsh and aggressive tones to my help-meet down life's pathway except by her duly licensed husband in the nuptual bond."

"This dope says he wants to sell you some insurance," Mrs. Spelvin said.

"I didn't say anything of the kind," the stranger said. "I said you are going to buy my insurance. Or you are going to prison if not."

"Not me," Mr. Spelvin said. "It's a free country and I shop around for my insurance. This certainly is something new, novel and unique when an insurance huckster can kick in the door at George Spelvin, American's, and threaten him to buy their line of insurance under penalty of the law.

"What company is this and what kind of financial condition is it in? Assets? Liabilities? Investments? All like that."

"This is the Social Security and Old Age Benefits Insurance Company, a subsidiary of the United States Treasury," the man said. "Financial condition absolutely lousy. Busted beyond hope of recovery. Assets, a lot of poor saps who have to give us a big proportion of their income or they go to prison, but even so the management throws dough away so fast that we are proud to say we are running behind about a billion dollars a day. Some days two billion. Then we have also got the current receipts of this insurance business."

"But an insurance outfit can't spend current receipts for going expenses," Mr. Spelvin said, "and not leave any in the damper. Why, you are violating just about every insurance law there is. You can get life for that. That is positively no way to run any insurance business. What about a reserve? For insurance you have got to build up a reserve."

"Not this company," the guy said. "This is Uncle Sam. You are the reserve. Anybody don't buy Uncle Sam's insurance is a dirty Nazi-rat Fascist and a traitor. Sign here. And do not obstruct a government officer in the performance of their lawful duty or there is an extra ten years for that."

"What about your liabilities, though?" Mr. Spelvin persisted weakly. "How much does this company owe?"

"It wouldn't do no good to tell you," the guy said. "It goes up so fast. I guess it was about five hundred billion dollars when I came in. No, I guess it was about six hundred and fifty billion. But don't quote me. I don't really know."

"Well, then," Mr. Spelvin said, "I have decided not to buy any of your insurance."

"Okay, pal," the guy said. He produced a set of handcuffs. "Get your overcoat and better bring a fresh change of underwear and socks in a paper bag. My patience is exhausted."

Mrs. Spelvin flung herself between them.

"Wait papa," she said. "Let us pour the guy a slosh of Panther and reason this out."

"Don't try to corrrupt a government officer with temptations, enticements and blandishments contrary to Artcle Z, Section 12 of the Social Security and Old Age Pension Law, as amended," the guy said, "because we have got a department for female Nazi-rat Fascist reactionaries, too."

"How much does it cost?" Mr. Spelvin asked in a pale voice as he signed the paper.

"Costs you one and one-half per cent of your income," the guy said, "and your boss pays another one and one-half per cent."

"But I don't want the boss to pay half of my insurance premiums," said George Spelvin, American. "I am quaint that way. I believe in paying my own way. When I get my money on paynight, I and him are even with the board. Why should he pay

The Quebec Automobile Club has urged that girls influence their boy friends to drive safely. This is not silly. Far from it. Studies of accidents and their causes often center on the youngest group of drivers, those in their late teens and early twenties, as this group has a high accident rate. One of the conclusions of study is that the recklessness which so often characterizes drivers in this group is essentially a form of showing off.

Showing off is done from a variety of motives, but in the case of a lad of courting age it is usually for the benefit of the opposite sex. At that age he will perform prodigious labors in order to demonstrate his strength and endurance, and to exhibit his skill and daring he will do all sorts of tricks on a trapeze, on a bicycle, in a boat, or at the wheel of a car. On the trapeze he endangers no one but himself, but as he carries his showing off into more powerful machines he begins to embrace the whole community in the circle of peril he creates.

So girls can bring about safer driving by influencing their boy friends. It is not as simple as it sounds, however. A girl companion's simple suggestion to a young driver that he be cautious is more likely to be accepted as a dare than as sound advice. If everyone shunned the show-off driver, from genuine realization of the danger surrounding him, he might soon become a rarity. Here is something for parents and psychologists to work on.

LEARNING TO LIVE

Both men and women should be educated for the creation of a system of values, for the ability to make wise choices, for the establishment of a workable philosophy of life, and for the ability to make a worthwhile contribution to society, says Dr. Sarah G. Blanding, president of Vassar College.

The courses of study which tend toward these achievements for women are covered by the same liberal arts program which is furnished to men, she asserts. The skills which women need for homemaking may be easily acquired if they have been taught to think any problem through and to apply their ability to see beyond immediate objectives to basic values.

The results of education for "the age of specialization" have not all been desirable. The modern tendency, in education for both men and women, is to superimpose their specialized training upon the broad general basis of a liberal arts course. This is better calculated to produce a well-rounded individual who can meet life with equanimity upon any level.

LUCKY FOOTBALL COACH

Yale University has just given its football coach, Herman Hickman, an unusual vote of confidence. He has signed a ten-year contract. Few football coaches have been able to keep their posts for the twelve years now assured Hickman, the two he has already served and the ten provided in his new contract. Michigan's famous Fielding H. "Hurry-up" Yost and Chicago's Alonzo Stagg were conspicuous exceptions. They have few parallels.

Usually a single season that brings more than the usual proportion of defeats has the alumni howling for the coach's scalp, and two such seasons in a row are sure to bring that result. Naturally a coach is better able to make long-range plans if his job does not depend on winning every Saturday.

Many a baseball manager will read with envy of the vote of confidence awarded Hickman.

Those in other parts of the world who would doubt America's anticipation of a long, secure future should check over our life insurance purchases. The $2,570,000,000 bought in October was thirty-eight per cent more than in the same period last year.

If "Better late than never" had not been coined before, it certainly would have been invented for the automobile age.

In our present crisis, this is not sufficient for national leadership. If, for any reason, Mr. Truman must keep Mr. Acheson, would it not be wise for him to have a consultative body whose experience and wisdom would aid him in forming decisions in critical matters? Certainly, it does not do for the President of the United States to give the impression in the morning, by whatever language, that he will or might or is considering the use of the A-bomb, and in the afternoon to revise his statement to conform to the law.

Such a consultative body as this would strengthen the President and rewin the confidence of our people: Herbert Hoover, Bernard Baruch, Senator Walter F. George, Senator Robert A. Taft, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, James F. Byrnes, General Albert C. Wedemeyer, Representative Christian Herter, and Representative John W. McCormack.

Some of these suggestions are obvious; others require some explanation. James Byrnes was at Potsdam and was practically pushed out of office by Dean Acheson. He ended his cabinet career utterly disillusioned about the Russians and has since become a leader of the Southern Democrats. These southerners are more antagonistic to the current management of our foreign policy than most Republicans. The President would do well to recognize their views from someone whose mind is more responsive than Senator Tom Connally's.

General Albert Wedemeyer's reports on China and Korea stand up. They establish beyond doubt his ability to study, analyze and judge the situation. Because his report displeased Dean Acheson, Wedemeyer was exiled to the presidio in California. His advice and counsel is needed—perhaps more than anybody else on this list.

Similarly among Republican members of Congress, Christian Herter of Massachusetts is particularly able and well-informed on international relations. In the current crisis, such a man could be invaluable to the President.

As matters stand now, the President can depend only on his secretary of state, whose concepts have been proved to be disastrously wrong by the course of events.

That Body of Yours

OPERATION FOR HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

We do not hear or read much about appendicitis anymore nor about the operation for removal of the appendix. What we do hear and read about is high blood pressure, because heart strokes (coronary thrombosis) and brain strokes (apoplexy), due to high blood pressure, are becoming increasingly common. Fortunately the family physician by using drugs to lower the blood pressure temporarily can relax both the blood vessels and the heart muscle, and even short rests take some work off the heart. In addition, the physican prescribes an easily-digested diet and cuts down the food intake, thus preventing overweight, a bad complication of high blood pressure.

Where drugs, diet and health suggestions fail to keep the blood pressure within safe limits, the operation known as sympathectomy (cutting the nerves supplying heart and bloodvessels) is being performed in many hospitals. Thus we read in the Journal of the American Medical Association of 292 patients in the public wards of the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, operated on for high blood pressure. Most of these patients were free from any important heart or blood vessel complications. To supplement or give a complete history of the effects of this operation, Drs. Paul D. White, Boston, E. Grey Dimond, Kansas City, Kansas, and Armistead Williams, Richmond, Va. report in the Journal of the American Medical Association on a smaller but special group of 50 private patients also operated on at Massachusetts General Hospital. These 50 patients differed from the first group in that they did have imporant heart and blood vessel complications. Their progress was followed after operation by Dr. White and by Dr. R. H. Smithwick, the noted surgeon and the originator of the special operation used. Notwithstanding that this type of patient (with complications) is not considered a good risk, the results were very gratifying.

The results by sympathectomy are compared with results of 50 private patients with heart and blood vessel complications treated medically. After a three-year follow up of the 50 who had undergone operation, the result was excellent or good in 11 and fair with some definite improvement in 11, in 5 cases there was little or no change; 11 patients were worse and 12 were dead. The deaths at end of first year were two for those who had undergone operation and 8 for those treated medically; at end of 2 years, deaths were 6 and 16 respectfully; at end of 3 years, 8 and 29.

This means that selected cases of high blood pressure who have heart and blood vessel complications, do better under operation than those treated medically.

Hardly What One Would Call a Unanimous Decision

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—It was partly a fluke that led to the Attlee-Truman conversation—one of the most important conferences since Potsdam. Regardless of the accidental inception, however, diplomats agree that the conversation has long been needed to bring greater synchronization of traditional British-American friendship.

The fluke was the President's off-the-cuff statement that we were considering dropping the atomic bomb and the inference that General MacArthur had been given a free hand as to when we should drop it.

This statement, made at a morning White House press conference, hit the British House of Commons late in the afternoon and left British Labor leaders gasping. They have had increasing misgivings about MacArthur, and were fully aware of the manner in which he had maneuvered around State Department proposals to keep U.N. armies away from the Chinese dams and the Manchurian border.

British Labor leaders did not then know that the President had made his atom-bomb statement in reply to oral newspaper queries and that it was not a carefully considered statement. Finally, they did not know that the President was in the process of issuing a clarifying statement—which came three hours later.

British Labor Rebels

By accident, it happened that the Truman A-bomb statement hit the House of Commons during a major foreign policy debate, with 63 Labor members led by Tom Driberg and Ian Mikardo, of Labor's national executive body, proposing high level conferences between the east and west before taking any further decisions on Korea.

Simultaneously came a speech by Anthony Eden demanding conferences between London and Washington, plus a London Daily Mail editorial goading Attlee with the taunt that Churchill would have been half-way across the Atlantic were he prime minister.

It was in this atmosphere of extreme criticism from both Conservatives and Labor that Prime Minister Attlee was shown the first Truman statement indicating that the dropping of the A-bomb was up to MacArthur. At this, about 100 Conservative members of Parliament left the chamber and signed a petition to Churchill stating that if the United States dropped the bomb Britain should pull out of Korea.

These are some of the factors behind Attlee's trip which he wanted to put before Truman.

Note — Three hours after the first Truman statement on the A-Bomb, came a clarifying White House statement that under the law only the President can authorize use of the atomic bomb and that no such authorization had been given to MacArthur.

Coffee and Defense

It may seem a long way between a coffee investigation staged by a senator from Iowa and this country's preparedness for war; yet there's a connection just the same.

The Senate investigation, staged by silver-crested, likeable Guy Gillette of Iowa, delved into increased coffee prices and speculation. Insofar as it dealt with coffee manipulation by the big chain grocery stores and the New York commodity market, the probe was justified. However, when it blamed Latin American coffee growers for price increases, it was like blaming Iowa corn farmers for the increased price of corn.

Thus the injustice of Gillette's probe, which made headlines in Latin America, was the biggest break the Communists ever had south of the Rio Grande. It also turned millions of hitherto friendly Latinos very sour indeed. Because Latin American coffee growers, like the farmer of Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, had suffered extremely lean years prior to the war. And the chief reason for increased coffee prices was identical with the reason for the increased price of American meat, corn, wheat and cotton—namely, that the world is consuming more.

Anyway, the State Department, aghast at the harm done our Good Neighbor policy by the Gillette coffee probe, placed all the facts before the Senate committee. Forthright Assistant Secretary Edward Miller warned that Gillette was playing into Communist hands, while farsighted Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico did his best to put the quietus on his colleague from Iowa.

We Need Latin America

But Gillette was stubborn. He had the support of "Cotton Elmer" Thomas of Oklahoma, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee and he stood pat. What Gillette didn't figure on, however, was that Washington Merry-Go-Round exposures of Thomas's speculation in cotton, lard and eggs would defeat him at the polls.

Now that Thomas has been defeated, Senator Gillette is without a friendly committee chairman, and new Chairman Ellender of Louisiana plans to abolish the coffee-probe committee.

However, here is the unpleasant pay-off. The effect of the furore Gillette stirred up in Latin America is now coming back to slap us in the face, following the bad news from Korea and Indo-China.

Desperately short of manganese, we have turned to Brazil, which has the biggest manganese deposits in the Americas. But Brazil also happens to be the biggest coffee grower and is still smarting from the unfair accusations of the Gillette Committee. Though she is now helping us out on manganese, it is not with the same enthusiasm as in the last war.

Meanwhile, manganese is getting so short that refrigerators, automobiles, other civilian products are almost certain to be curtailed because of dwindling steel.

Othr strategic materials are also involved — materials which Latin America has and which we are going to need vitally in case of all-out war. All of which is why the American people—instead of throwing brickbats, as did Senator Gillette—need to get back to working at the good neighbor policy.

Magazine to Suspend

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Flair magazine will suspend publication after its January issue, a casualty of the tense Far East political situation. Gardner Cowles, president of Cowles Magazines, Inc., publishers of Flair, said yesterday that "the very critical foreign situation, the uncertainty of further increases in costs and the likelihood of limitations on paper availability in 1951 makes it unwise to continue the publication of Flair at this time." Flair will close exactly one year after it started publication as a "deluxe" literary, art and fashion magazine. It claimed a circulation of 200,000, including 90,000 subscribers.

Lack of Realism of State of War Causes Confusion Between Free World, Totalitarians

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 5—The free world—fumbling, debating, arguing for the self-interest of each member nation—is up against the totalitarian world where neither parliaments nor business, nor labor, nor allies have much to say about public policy.

This handicap, long expected to plague the free world in its hour of decision, is visible to everybody—including Russia. If all the nations in the free world were to recognize that a state of war already exists, there would be unity in a common cause and a measure of self-discipline. But there is no such realism.

American troops in large numbers are in Korea with other allied units to carry out a mission for the United Nations to halt aggression.

The U.N. troops are being beaten on the field of battle—they are meeting severe reverses after having been prevented from using air power against enemy concentrations across the Manchurian border.

What does the world hear from the principal members of the U.N.? From Britain and France come tirades against the American general. In the British Parliament, one cabinet minister says MacArthur exceeded U.N. directives. A member of the British government repudiates that charge and says MacArthur carried out U.N. objectives.

Hindsight is always better than foresight but what is inexplicable today is the assumption in European official quarters that if U.N. troops had stopped at the 38th Farallel or at an imaginary line north of it, the Chinese Communists would have promptly made peace and the U.N. mission into Korea would have been carried out successfully.

There is not the slightest evidence that there would have been any such acquiescence by the Communists' whose broadcasts from Peiping for several weeks have insisted only on the immediate and complete exodus of U.N. forces from Korea.

The decision which really hangs in the balance to be appraised one way or the other is the U.N. decision of June 26 to go into Korea. The moment the U.N. constituted itself as an international police force it could not revert to the status of a quasi-military or quasi-diplomatic organization which tries to tell troops to move into a country, then asks them to halt while the enemy is politely asked whether it will accept defeat. If the enemy says it won't do so, then there is evidently more debate on what to do about it while the enemy is given time to regroup his military forces.

If the U. N. now, having gone into Korea, in effect orders its military forces to evacuate what has been conquered, then the U.N. will lose the respect of many millions of Americans and there will be a demand for full freedom of action for the United States in world affairs—leaving it to America to decide hereafter when and where it will use its forces and its resources.

This is sometimes called "isolationism." More "isolationists" have been born in the last few days since the British government has enunciated its viewpoint than were bred since the 1920's. The demand for America to go its own way in world affairs—helping in Europe or in Asia as its resources permit—will become the demand of many political groups inside both major parties. Isolationism bored within the Democratic as well as the Republican party as late as 1932.

The situation today happens to fit a paragraph written by Owen Lattimore, the Far Eastern expert, in one of his books published in 1949 when he said:

". . . Those who plan and carry out American policy will fall into a trap if they thnk that what is required of them is a decision between 'Europe first' and 'Asia first.' In 1946, 1947, and 1948 Europe fitted the combined specifications of the Communist theory of what constitutes an opportunity and the methods available to the Soviet state for exploiting an opportunity better than in Asia.

"In 1949 Asia fits the specifications better than Europe. But both then and now the situations in Europe and in Asia have never ceased to interact on each other."

It is the global aspect of America's responsibility and the U.N.'s responsibility, and the interdependence of policy in Europe and Asia which are being overlooked by those who today are counseling retreat and surrender in the Far East on the theory that this means a strengthened U.N. in Europe. Wherever the free world is beaten, its prestige goes down but it doesn't stay down if it heroically fights back as it did all the way from Bataan in 1941 to Tokyo in September 1945.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Dec. 4—One night the doorbell rang at the lovebower of George Spelvin, American, and, after some loud colloquy between Mrs. S. and an aggressive stranger, the master of the house hove the hulk out of his chair and went to see.

"What seems to be wrong here?" he demanded. "It is forbidden to use harsh and aggressive tones to my help-meet down life's pathway except by her duly licensed husband in the nuptual bond."

"This dope says he wants to sell you some insurance," Mrs. Spelvin said.

"I didn't say anything of the kind," the stranger said. "I said you are going to buy my insurance. Or you are going to prison if not."

"Not me," Mr. Spelvin said. "It's a free country and I shop around for my insurance. This certainly is something new, novel and unique when an insurance huckster can kick in the door at George Spelvin, American's, and threaten him to buy their line of insurance under penalty of the law.

"What company is this and what kind of financial condition is it in? Assets? Liabilities? Investments? All like that."

"This is the Social Security and Old Age Benefits Insurance Company, a subsidiary of the United States Treasury," the man said. "Financial condition absolutely lousy. Busted beyond hope of recovery. Assets, a lot of poor saps who have to give us a big proportion of their income or they go to prison, but even so the management throws dough away so fast that we are proud to say we are running behind about a billion dollars a day. Some days two billion. Then we have also got the current receipts of this insurance business."

"But an insurance outfit can't spend current receipts for going expenses," Mr. Spelvin said, "and not leave any in the damper. Why, you are violating just about every insurance law there is. You can get life for that. That is positively no way to run any insurance business. What about a reserve? For insurance you have got to build up a reserve."

"Not this company," the guy said. "This is Uncle Sam. You are the reserve. Anybody don't buy Uncle Sam's insurance is a dirty Nazi-rat Fascist and a traitor. Sign here. And do not obstruct a government officer in the performance of their lawful duty or there is an extra ten years for that."

"What about your liabilities, though?" Mr. Spelvin persisted weakly. "How much does this company owe?"

"It wouldn't do no good to tell you," the guy said. "It goes up so fast. I guess it was about five hundred billion dollars when I came in. No, I guess it was about six hundred and fifty billion. But don't quote me. I don't really know."

"Well, then," Mr. Spelvin said, "I have decided not to buy any of your insurance."

"Okay, pal," the guy said. He produced a set of handcuffs. "Get your overcoat and better bring a fresh change of underwear and socks in a paper bag. My patience is exhausted."

Mrs. Spelvin flung herself between them.

"Wait papa," she said. "Let us pour the guy a slosh of Panther and reason this out."

"Don't try to corrrupt a government officer with temptations, enticements and blandishments contrary to Artcle Z, Section 12 of the Social Security and Old Age Pension Law, as amended," the guy said, "because we have got a department for female Nazi-rat Fascist reactionaries, too."

"How much does it cost?" Mr. Spelvin asked in a pale voice as he signed the paper.

"Costs you one and one-half per cent of your income," the guy said, "and your boss pays another one and one-half per cent."

"But I don't want the boss to pay half of my insurance premiums," said George Spelvin, American. "I am quaint that way. I believe in paying my own way. When I get my money on pay-night, I and him are even with the board. Why should he pay

Long Island Fire Delays Commuters

Rockville Centre, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Thousands of commuters were late for work today as a lumber yard fire here slowed trains to a crawl on the Montauk branch of the Long Island Railroad.

Delays on other parts of the line were expected because of congestion and late connections at Jamaica, Queens, where various branches fan out.

The delays were during the morning rush-hour as trains were bound west for New York city.

Trains were backed up east of here, as dense smoke enveloped the tracks and slowed progress to 15 miles an hour, part of the power was cut off, adding to the tieup.

The railroad announced that schedules would be normal by 10 a. m. (EST), after signal power on the Montauk branch between Lynbrook and Babylon had been restored at 7:02 a. m.

Trains on the branch were about an hour late. The signal power had been shut off since 5:15 a. m., by order of firemen. Current feeding the third rails and powering the trains was not affected.

The fire, which swept the yard of the Post Lumber Company, was pronounced under control at 7:15 a. m. after raging for two hours. The origin was not immediately determined. The yard was one of the largest on Long Island.

The fire, alongside the railroad's elevated tracks, was about three blocks from the scene of the wreck last Feb. 17 which took 32 lives and injured more than 100 other persons.

The blaze for a time threatened a block of business places and homes in the center of the village.

There was no immediate estimate of damage to the yard.

Fire companies of Rockville Centre were aided by firemen from Lynbrook, Malverne and East Rockaway.

Buses headed for the Independent line subway in Jamaica were jammed by stranded railroad commuters, and taxis congregated from a wide area.

PRAISE LOCAL POLICE

644 Broadway
Kingston, N. Y.
Dec. 1, 1950

Editor, The Freeman:

Will you kindly print this article to bring to the attention of your newspaper readers, about the efficiency of our police department.

I was unfortunate to have had a robbery committed in my store last Saturday night or Sunday morning, during the terrific rainstorm we had here. My cash register was stolen from the store, contents and all, valuable articles to me.

To my great relief, after reporting the theft to our police department a couple of days later two detectives brought me the register. Although it was broken these detectives very kindly put the register together as best they could which was very well done. This is why I wish to acknowledge the consideration and efficiency of our police department.

I am a widow and work very hard. My son is a navy veteran and lives in another state. I am certain that he also joins me in his high praises of our police department as he was born and educated here in Kingston.

My case shows me that our police department is on the alert and do many excellent helpful acts for the citizens of our Colonial City.

Sincerely yours

Long Island Fire Delays Commuters

Rockville Centre, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Thousands of commuters were late for work today as a lumber yard fire here slowed trains to a crawl on the Montauk branch of the Long Island Railroad.

Delays on other parts of the line were expected because of congestion and late connections at Jamaica, Queens, where various branches fan out.

The delays were during the morning rush-hour as trains were bound west for New York city.

Trains were backed up east of here, as dense smoke enveloped the tracks and slowed progress to 15 miles an hour, part of the power was cut off, adding to the tieup.

The railroad announced that schedules would be normal by 10 a. m. (EST), after signal power on the Montauk branch between Lynbrook and Babylon had been restored at 7:02 a. m.

Trains on the branch were about an hour late. The signal power had been shut off since 5:15 a. m., by order of firemen. Current feeding the third rails and powering the trains was not affected.

The fire, which swept the yard of the Post Lumber Company, was pronounced under control at 7:15 a. m. after raging for two hours. The origin was not immediately determined. The yard was one of the largest on Long Island.

The fire, alongside the railroad's elevated tracks, was about three blocks from the scene of the wreck last Feb. 17 which took 32 lives and injured more than 100 other persons.

The blaze for a time threatened a block of business places and homes in the center of the village.

There was no immediate estimate of damage to the yard.

Fire companies of Rockville Centre were aided by firemen from Lynbrook, Malverne and East Rockaway.

Buses headed for the Independent line subway in Jamaica were jammed by stranded railroad commuters, and taxis congregated from a wide area.

Vehicular traffic on Sunrise Highway was blocked at spots by the heavy drifting smoke.

Kingston, N., Y.
Dec. 1, 1950

Editor, The Freeman:

Will you kindly print this article to bring to the attention of your newspaper readers, about the efficiency of our police department.

I was unfortunate to have had a robbery committed in my store last Saturday night or Sunday morning, during the terrific rainstorm we had here. My cash register was stolen from the store, contents and all, valuable articles to me.

To my great relief, after reporting the theft to our police department a couple of days later two detectives brought me the register. Although it was broken these detectives very kindly put the register together as best they could which was very well done. This is why I wish to acknowledge the consideration and efficiency of our police department.

I am a widow and work very hard. My son is a navy veteran and lives in another state. I am certain that he also joins me in his high praises of our police department as he was born and educated here in Kingston.

My case shows me that our police department is on the alert and do many excellent helpful acts for the citizens of our Colonial City.

Sincerely yours
MRS. TILLIE WORMAN

The approach of the national championships, which are being held at New Orleans this year, reminds me of a gem from last year's tournament. The declarer was John Gerber of Houston, Tex., inventor of the Gerber four-club slam convention and one of the best bridge players in the country.

However, Gerber was not the hero of this hand. That distinction went to Howard Schenken of New York, one of the all-time greats of bridge.

This hand was played in a team-of-four match, and the full effect of Schenken's play can be best seen by looking first at what happened when the hand was played at the other table. At that table the West player led the deuce of diamonds.

The play was very simple from then on. Declarer played a low diamond from dummy, and East (after much hesitation, and soul-searching) won with the king.

East returned the jack of hearts, South played the queen, and West won with the ace. West returned a heart to South's king, and South led his singleton club.

West took the ace of clubs and led another heart, forcing dummy to ruff. Dummy then led the six of spades, since declarer's best chance was to find a singleton or doubleton king of spades in the East hand. When the king appeared on this trick, all was well. South won with the ace of spades, led back to dummy's jack, and then ruffed a club in order to draw West's last trump with the queen of spades. South could then claim the rest.

When Schenken held the West cards, he led the nine of spades! Just see what that opening lead does to declarer!

Nobody ever leads the nine of a suit if he also holds the ten, so Gerber naturally thought that East had the ten of spades. It was necessary to assume that East had the king of spades, since otherwise a trump trick would surely be lost.

All would be easy if East simply had the king and ten of trumps, but Gerber had to provide against the danger that East also held the other missing trump (the five-spot). The only logical plan was to put up dummy's jack of spades to trap the king.

Later on, Gerber planned, he could finesse through the ten-five of spades, since he would have the queen-eight right behind East.

So Gerber put up dummy's jack of spades. And now he was bound to lose a trump trick to Schenken's ten! There was one losing trick in each suit, and the contract could not be made.

Early Cape Cod cottages had a combination kitchen, living and dining room in the back.

Often Bring Children

New York (AP)—Childless couples frequently have a baby after they have adopted a child. Some of the reasons may be that after the adoption the wife becomes freer of tension, fears and hostilities, and accepts a feminine and maternal role, says Dr. Abraham Stone, director of the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau.

The W.S.C.S. will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Conrad Christiansen Wednesday afternoon.

The Youth Fellowship will meet Friday at 7 p. m. at the parsonage for a brief session. Later members will go to Ashokan to hear the Catskill Glee Club at the Methodist Church.

Principals Make Bid

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Principals of New York state's elementary schools have added their appeal to those of educators who seek special television channels for educational programs. The principals yesterday instructed a committee to ask the Federal Communications Commission to "allocate specific television channels for the purpose of education." Approximately 500 delegates attending the annual convention of the New York State Elementary School Principals Association approved the resolution, which labelled TV "an extremely important new medium of communication."

You can have natural gas heat

Anywhere you can run a pipe!

Many homes do not have a central furnace in the cellar but depend upon heaters in individual rooms. Or you may have a cold spot in your home where you need extra heat from time to time.

Anywhere that you can run a pipe you can have fast, clean, instant Natural Gas heat! Think what this means with the heating problem solved once and for all in your home.

Illustrated here are a few of the many applications. Equipment built for living rooms is beautifully styled to enhance the room and may be operated by hand or installed for 100% automatic thermostat operation.

Talk with any gas appliance dealer in this vicinity. Explain your problem to him and he will have the answer. He'll give you full information, too, about the initial low cost of gas equipment, low operation costs and the years of dependable service you may expect.

The approach of the national championships, which are being held at New Orleans this year, reminds me of a gem from last year's tournament. The declarer was John Gerber of Houston, Tex., inventor of the Gerber four-club slam convention and one of the best bridge players in the country.

However, Gerber was not the hero of this hand. That distinction went to Howard Schenken of New York, one of the all-time greats of bridge.

This hand was played in a team-of-four match, and the full effect of Schenken's play can be best seen by looking first at what happened when the hand was played at the other table. At that table the West player led the deuce of diamonds.

The play was very simple from then on. Declarer played a low diamond from dummy, and East (after much hesitation, and soul-searching) won with the king.

East returned the jack of hearts, South played the queen, and West won with the ace. West returned a heart to South's king, and South led his singleton club.

West took the ace of clubs and led another heart, forcing dummy to ruff. Dummy then led the six of spades, since declarer's best chance was to find a singleton or doubleton king of spades in the East hand. When the king appeared on this trick, all was well. South won with the ace of spades, led back to dummy's jack, and then ruffed a club in order to draw West's last trump with the queen of spades. South could then claim the rest.

When Schenken held the West cards, he led the nine of spades! Just see what that opening lead does to declarer!

Nobody ever leads the nine of a suit if he also holds the ten, so Gerber naturally thought that East had the ten of spades. It was necessary to assume that East had the king of spades, since otherwise a trump trick would surely be lost.

All would be easy if East simply had the king and ten of trumps, but Gerber had to provide against the danger that East also held the other missing trump (the five-spot). The only logical plan was to put up dummy's jack of spades to trap the king.

Later on, Gerber planned, he could finesse through the ten-five of spades, since he would have the queen-eight right behind East.

So Gerber put up dummy's jack of spades. And now he was bound to lose a trump trick to Schenken's ten! There was one losing trick in each suit, and the contract could not be made.

Firemen Play Shoo With Hot Birdie

There were strange goings-on in a house on Spring street Monday evening.

About 5:30 p. m. alert observers could have seen Fireman Edwin Van Etten, in his stocking feet, standing on a table. Deputy Fire Chief Harold Sanford was running around inside the room. Both were waving their arms over their heads.

This was all in a day's work for the firemen, and it started when a resident notified the department that a bird had flown into the room and roosted in a light fixture in such a way that a short circuit was feared. Deputy Sanford and Fireman Van Etten responded in the chief's car. They finally "shooed the bird out of the house," the fire department report reads.

Deputy Chief Sanford was not sure what sort of a bird it was, except that it was "a small one like a sparrow or wren."

Chiang Would Help

Taipei, Formosa, Dec. 5 (AP)—Chiang Kai-shek today warned against "another Munich" and pledged Nationalist China's full backing toward averting it. If Munich repeats itself, the Chinese Nationalist leader said, "war may break out at any time." Chiang told a specially-summoned news conference he stood by his earlier offer to send troops to Korea, declaring "if the commander-in-chief of the U.N. forces is given full authority in strategy and this calls for military support, we shall certainly give it." In a written statement, Chiang declared that any major decision at the Truman-Attlee conference would have to be translated into action through the United Nations.

Sweet Potato Storage

New Brunswick, N. J. (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Daines of Rutgers University knows all about storing sweet potatoes. He says it is important because the U. S. sweet potato crop is worth $100,000,000 a year and 20 per cent of it rots in storage. He says they should be stored at 80 degree temperature with 90 to 95 per cent humidity for a few days. This will give the potatoes a chance to grow new skin over damaged areas, and keep out disease. Then the temperature should be lowered to 55 degrees.

Australia has low over-all population because of its large proportion of desert lands.

Penneys to Give Special Payment For Yule Season

The board of directors of the J. C. Penney Company have authorized a special year-end payment of an amount equal to two weeks' pay for all full-time associates who have been employed for the full year of 1950 and proportionate amounts for extra and part-time associates and those employed less than a year.

All Penney associates except management staff members, whose earnings are determined largely by the company's long standing profit-sharing plan, will share in the payment. It will be made on December 15 at each associate's December 15 pay rate.

Byron S. Chatham, manager of the J. C. Penney Company store, said that more than 50,000 Penney associates throughout the United States would participate in the payments, including 40 of the Kingston store.

He said the company president, A. W. Hughes, in a letter to store associates, pointed out that the payment was "based upon the results attained for 1950. An extra payment of this sort for a company of our size represents a very large amount. The possibility of similar payments in future years will continue to depend upon the results attained in those years."

Mr. Hughes added: "We are happy that the company is able to recognize associates' efforts in this special, substantial manner in addition to the regular company provisions for associates' benefit, which include the sick benefit plan, the gratuitous death and dismemberment benefit plan, the thrift and profit-sharing retirement plan and others."

A native of Riverhead, Corwin was a pianist and band leader at the old Hotel Navarre in New York city and a pianist at the Strand Theatre on Broadway at one time. He was a music teacher in Larchmont, N. Y., from 1918 to 1935, when he returned to Riverhead to teach.

Ban on Red Cargo

San Francisco, Dec. 5 (AP)—Customs officials, acting on Department of Commerce orders, have directed that cargo for Red China or Hong Kong be unloaded from three freighters here before they sailed. Orders went out yesterday to unload 12 tons of extra-hard steel from the Norwegian ship Igadi. The steel was consigned directly to a Red China firm at Tientsin. Customs officials said the silicon steel sheets, which could be used as armor plate, was shipped by the Pacific Trading Company of Boston. Collector of Customs Paul Leake denied a request by local agents for the Igadi owners that they be allowed to post $25,000 bond as a guarantee that the steel would be returned to the U. S. The agents explained that the steel was at the bottom of a hold and that removing it, plus cost of delaying the vessel, would be about $15,000.

Veterans Promised Repeal of Measure On Civil Service

Repeal of the so-called Mitchell amendment to the State Constitution by the enactment of a substitute provision guaranteeing an absolute preference in appointment, promotion retention for war veterans in civil service was promised members of The American Legion of the Third Judicial District at a conference in Schoharie Sunday by Past National Commander Edward N. Scheiberling, chairman of the state legislative committee of the Legion. The fight to repeal what Judge Scheiberling called "an affront to war veterans who sacrificed all for their country" will be sparked by the joint efforts of all the major war veteran organizations in the state and their associates.

The substitute amendment in the form of bills will be introduced in both houses of the State Legislature next month, Judge Scheiberling said. Other legislative matters to receive attention will concern the amendment of all statutes granting beneficial rights to war veterans so as to include servicemen in the armed forces of the United States since June 25, 1950.

Joseph L. Diamond, Third District commander, presided at the conference which was preceded by a memorial service in Community Church, Schoharie, at 11 a. m., under the direction of Walter B. Jerge, pastor of the church, and past district chaplain of the Legion.

Thoma. Bohan of Kingston, department vice commander, urged a vigorous step-up in membership in the district and an all-out attendance at a conference of the Third and Fourth Judicial Districts at Colonie Post in Albany county at 2 p. m. on Sunday, Dec. 10. He added that Department Commander Joseph R. Hahn, will head a list of distinguished speakers from all sections of the state. William J. Lasch, past district commander and recently named to represent the State Legion on the voluntary advisory committee of the Albany Veterans Administration Hospital, asked that each county of the state designate a Legionnaire who may report to him contemplated entertainment programs or gifts of reading material or items of merchandise when the hospital is opened for patients. He pointed out that such reports would co-ordinate activities at the hospital and prevent duplication of gifts to the disadvantage of many war veterans confined by wounds or illness.

It was also announced to the conferees that the Legislative dinner of the Legion to the war veteran members of the State Legislature, is scheduled to return to Albany and the Ten Eyck Hotel on January 30. Otto de Heus, Elsmere, past district commander, has been designated chairman of the general committee for the dinner and state conference which will open at 10 a. m. the same day. Governor Dewey and other state officials will be guests as will National Commander Erle Cocke, and Department Commander Joseph R. Hahn.

Captured in Korea

Frank Noel, veteran photographer for The Associated Press who was captured by Chinese Reds Dec. 1, appears in suntans and holding his camera — the weapon of his trade—somewhere in Korea in July during a lull in the early stages of the Korean war. Reports indicate Noel was taken by the Reds when a convoy trying to break through to a cut-off American Marine regiment, was ambushed several miles south of Koto.

Ban on Red Cargo

San Francisco, Dec. 5 (AP)—Customs officials, acting on Department of Commerce orders, have directed that cargo for Red China or Hong Kong be unloaded from three freighters here before they sailed. Orders went out yesterday to unload 12 tons of extra-hard steel from the Norwegian ship Igadi. The steel was consigned directly to a Red China firm at Tientsin. Customs officials said the silicon steel sheets, which could be used as armor plate, was shipped by the Pacific Trading Company of Boston. Collector of Customs Paul Leake denied a request by local agents for the Igadi owners that they be allowed to post $25,000 bond as a guarantee that the steel would be returned to the U. S. The agents explained that the steel was at the bottom of a hold and that removing it, plus cost of delaying the vessel, would be about $15,000.

Veterans Promised Repeal of Measure On Civil Service

Repeal of the so-called Mitchell amendment to the State Constitution by the enactment of a substitute provision guaranteeing an absolute preference in appointment, promotion retention for war veterans in civil service was promised members of The American Legion of the Third Judicial District at a conference in Schoharie Sunday by Past National Commander Edward N. Scheiberling, chairman of the state legislative committee of the Legion. The fight to repeal what Judge Scheiberling called "an affront to war veterans who sacrificed all for their country" will be sparked by the joint efforts of all the major war veteran organizations in the state and their associates.

The substitute amendment in the form of bills will be introduced in both houses of the State Legislature next month, Judge Scheiberling said. Other legislative matters to receive attention will concern the amendment of all statutes granting beneficial rights to war veterans so as to include servicemen in the armed forces of the United States since June 25, 1950.

Joseph L. Diamond, Third District commander, presided at the conference which was preceded by a memorial service in Community Church, Schoharie, at 11 a. m., under the direction of Walter B. Jerge, pastor of the church, and past district chaplain of the Legion.

Thoma.. Bohan of Kingston, department vice commander, urged a vigorous step-up in membership in the district and an all-out attendance at a conference of the Third and Fourth Judicial Districts at Colonie Post in Albany county at 2 p. m. on Sunday, Dec. 10. He added that Department Commander Joseph R. Hahn, will head a list of distinguished speakers from all sections of the state. William J. Lasch, past district commander and recently named to represent the State Legion on the voluntary advisory committee of the Albany Veterans Administration Hospital, asked that each county of the state designate a Legionnaire who may report to him contemplated entertainment programs or gifts of reading material or items of merchandise when the hospital is opened for patients. He pointed out that such reports would co-ordinate activities at the hospital and prevent duplication of gifts to the disadvantage of many war veterans confined by wounds or illness.

It was also announced to the conferees that the Legislative dinner of the Legion to the war veteran members of the State Legislature, is scheduled to return to Albany and the Ten Eyck Hotel on January 30. Otto de Heus, Elsmere, past district commander, has been designated chairman of the general committee for the dinner and state conference which will open at 10 a. m. the same day. Governor Dewey and other state officials will be guests as will National Commander Erle Cocke, and Department Commander Joseph R. Hahn.

He's Not So Good

An egoist will rant and rave
Because he thinks he's bold and brave,
But he's a tiresome little guy—

—Mrs. Ralph B. Hall.

He—I'm thinking of getting married.

She—That's a great idea, if you ask me.

An artificial limb doesn't fool anybody, but it comes nearer than an artificial smile does.

Corrine—I wish you had telephoned before you came. I'm sorry about my appearance.

Paul—Your appearance?

Corrine—Yes. If I'd known you were coming, I wouldn't have made one.

Husband—I suppose you are still angry with me because I came home last night with this black eye?

Wife—Maybe you don't know it, but when you came home last night you didn't have that black eye.

Co-operation would solve many problems. For instance, freckles would make a nice coat of tan if they'd just get together.

Salesman—And what kind of motor horn would you like, sir? Do you care for a good loud blast?

Haughty Owner—No. I want something that just sneeers!

She—Take back your diamond ring. It's paste.

He—Better keep it, girlie; a paste on the hand is worth two in the eye.

A motorist tells us about going to a gasoline station and buying gasoline and oil to the tune of $8.95. His tank was almost dry. And, the attendant never even offered to clean his windshield. No wonder some motorists never go back.

One objection to a child being born with a silver spoon in his mouth is that it's often hard getting it to stir for itself later.

He—See that girl. She wouldn't part with her husband for a million dollars.

Him—Real love, eh?

He—No; he's worth two million.

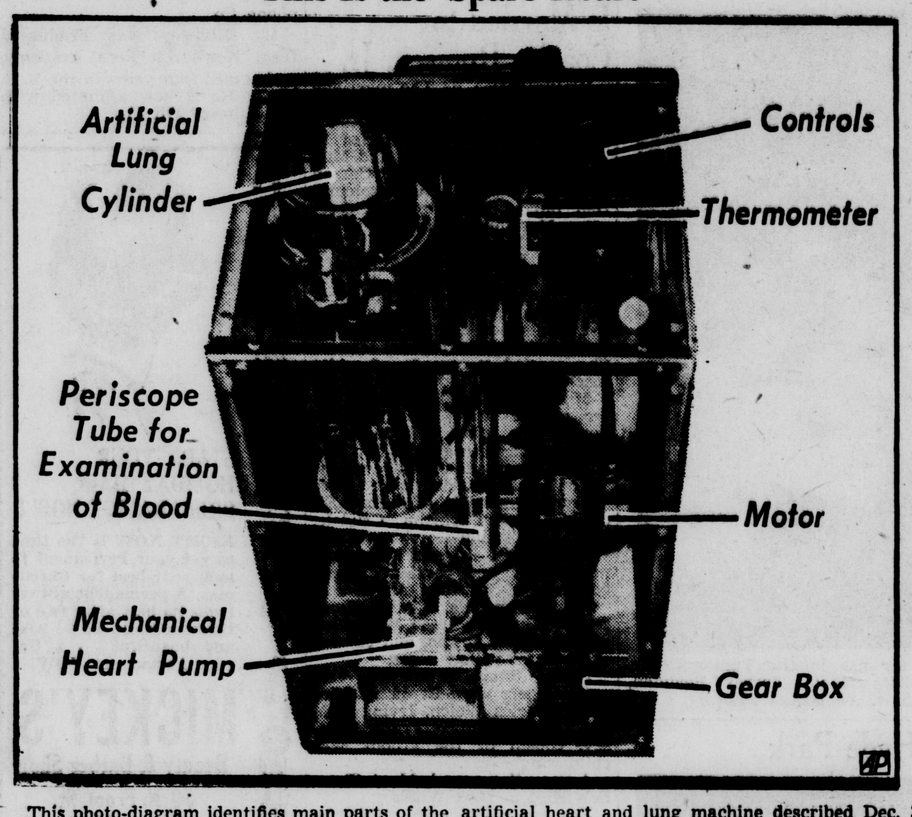
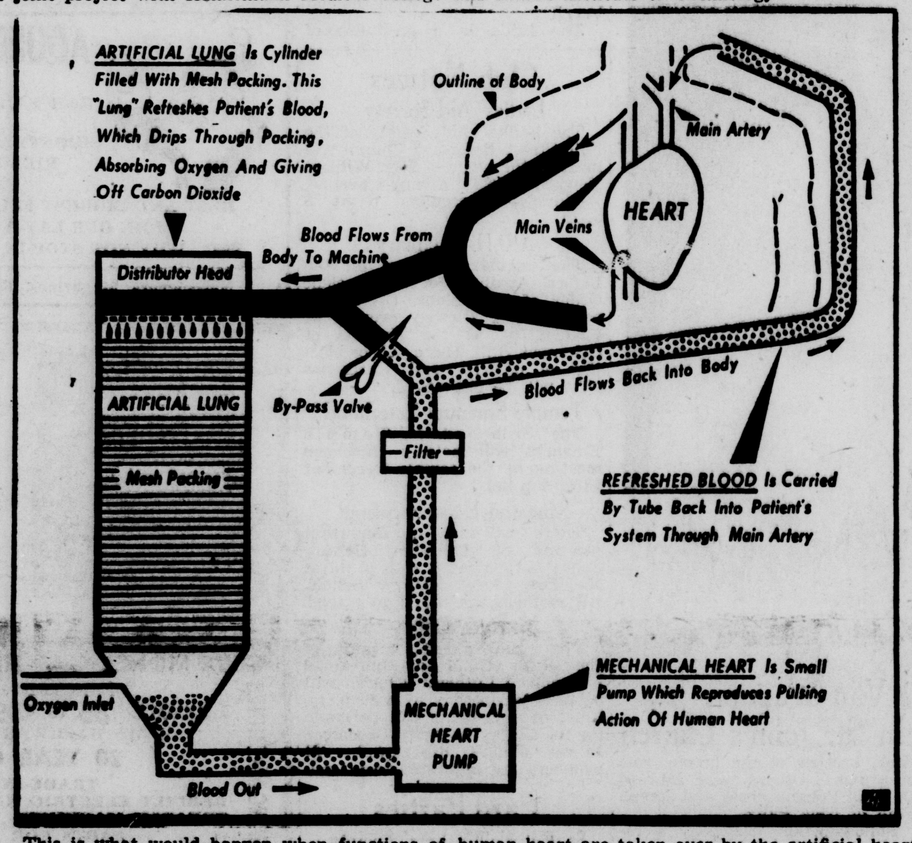
Polyandry is a system under which two or more men, sometimes brothers, have the same wife.

This Is the 'Spare Heart'



This photo-diagram identifies main parts of the artificial heart and lung machine described Dec. 3 to Ohio chapter of American College of Physicians meeting in Cleveland. Machine is enclosed in a glass case, 30 inches high and 16 inches wide and 18 inches deep. Blood from patient's veins would flow through plastic tubes into artificial lung cylinder where it would be purified and refreshed. Then the mechanical heart pump would take over, pulsing blood through plastic tube to the main artery. Machine was specially produced by the J. J. Ashton Co., a New York engineering development firm, in a joint project with Hahnemann Medical College and Drexel Institute of Technology.



This is what would happen when functions of human heart are taken over by the artificial heart and lung machine described Dec. 3 before Ohio chapter of American College of Chest Physicians in Cleveland. Intended to perform work of both the heart and the lungs, machine is designed to maintain normal circulation while detouring patient's blood around the heart. Black tubes are to carry dark, waste-laden blood to artificial lung; shaded tube is path of clear, refreshed blood pumped back to the patient's artery by mechanical heart. The machine, used successfully on dogs, is at Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, for use on human patient, probably as a last desperate measure on someone whose heart stops during surgery.

As Pegler Sees It

half of my insurance? Why not make him pay half of my rent and my grocery bill?"

"We will get to that in a few years," the guy insisted. "Meanwhile, when Congress says the boss pays half of your insurance, he pays. By the way, has your wife got a housemaid?"

"Just old Hattie," Mrs. Spelvin said. "She is a kind of broken-down old rummy, lives down by Railroad street. She comes in and dirties around the place Fridays and I give her $1.25 an hour."

"Then you better start keeping score," the guy said, "because if you pay her more than $50 any three months you have got to pay my insurance company one and one-half per cent of all over $50."

"I have to pay for her insurance?" Mary exclaimed. "Damned if I will. Let the old bum buy her own insurance. Anyway, how can I tell whether it is going to be $50 or $38.60 three months in advance? Sometimes she goes on unemployment relief for weeks. You can't ever tell in advance.

"That is your problem," the guy said. "And when you do pay the one and one-half per cent, don't forget to deduct another one and one-half per cent from her pay and send that in, too."

"That I could never do," Mary said. "That would be stealing. I haven't got any right to take her money out of her pay and give it to a busted insurance company for insurance she doesn't want. Does she know about this? Did you consult her?"

"She don't have to know. It is none of her business."

The guy puts his papers in his folder and started to go.

"Don't forget, now," he said with a glare at Mary. "Keep accounts and send it in every three months or your old man will be bringing you apples and candy bars on visitors' day and kiss you through a dirty three-ply wire screen."

"Do you really believe it is true?" Mrs. Spelvin asked when the guy was out the door.

"I don't know," said George Spelvin, American. "I just know I don't like the smell of jails. I guess we better buy their insurance."

'Operation Reindeer'

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Refregier's Murals Due for Ocean Trips

Woodstock, Dec. 5—Murals by Anton Refregier were among a unique collection of contemporary American art, which is soon to be installed aboard America's two newest, fastest and most luxurious ocean liners, the S. S. Independence and the S. S. Constitution. The works were on exhibition during the week of Nov. 15 at the Park Lane Hotel in New York.

The "seagoing" exhibit, featuring a wide range of varied art from a 40 by 8 foot mural to tiny mosaics, was under the sponsorship of the American Export Lines, which will operate the 25-knot, 1000-passenger ships on express service between New York, France and Italy beginning in early 1951.

Hailed by John E. Slater, president of the American Export Lines, as "an important contribution . . . to international understanding," the art, he said was "in keeping with the basic objective of the lines in providing modern American living at sea." "On the one hand," he said, "they will highlight the inspiring saga of America's rich maritime tradition, while, on the other hand, they will project the utmost functional efficiency that has governed every step in the building of these luxury liners."

The artists were commissioned, on behalf of the lines, by Henry Dreyfuss, industrial designer, who also designed the interiors for the new $25,000,000 (each) liners.

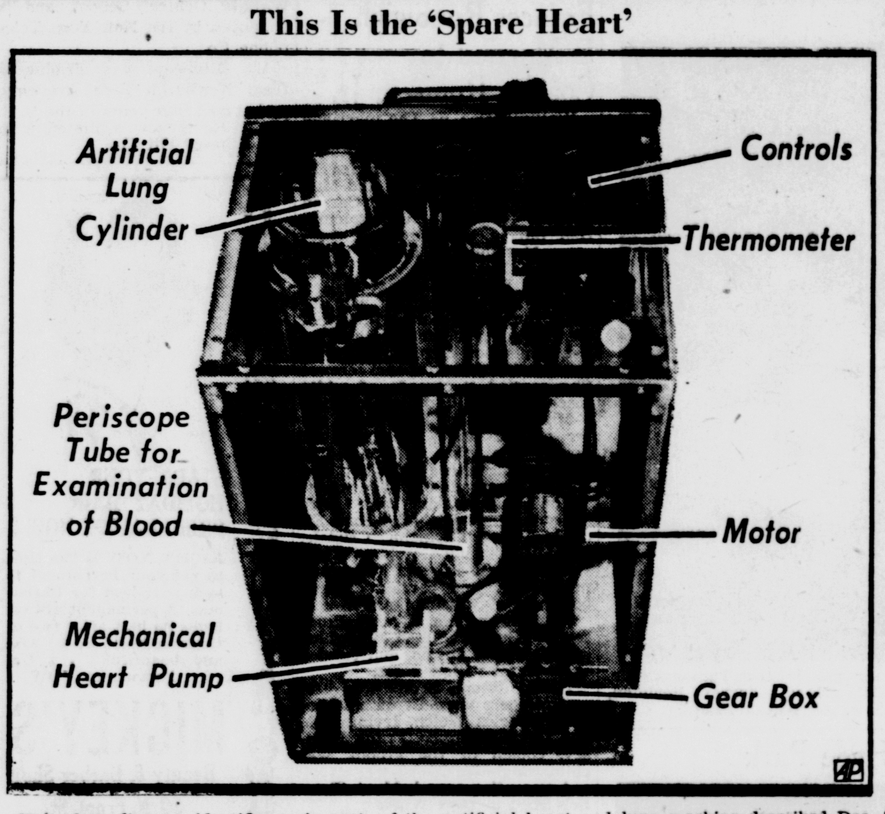
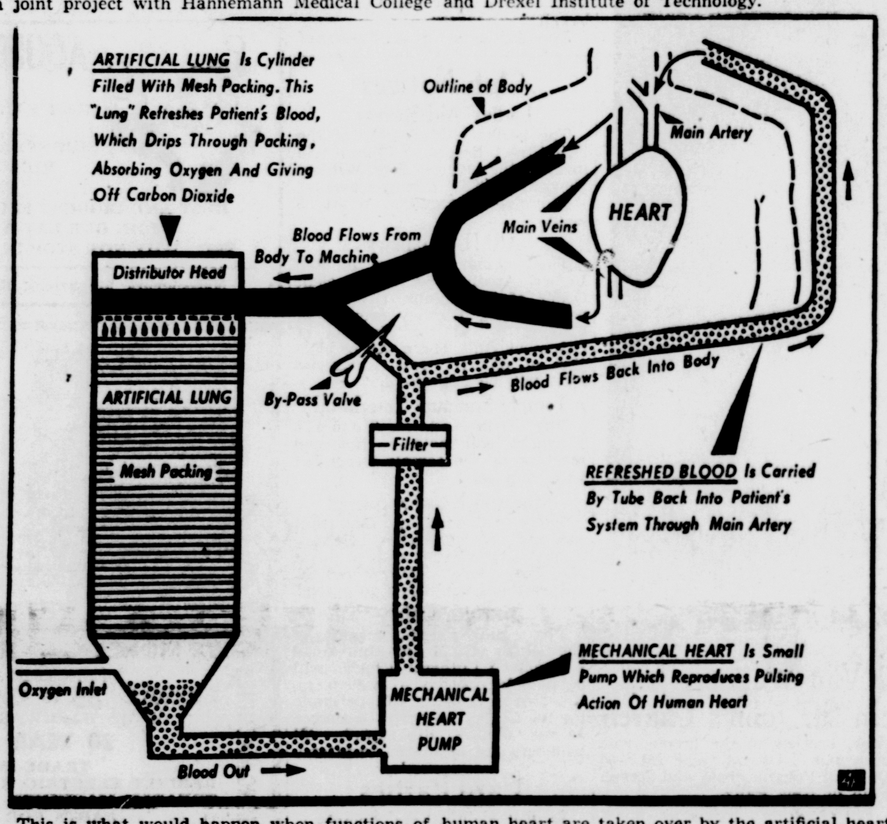
Polyandry is a system under which two or more men, sometimes brothers, have the same wife.

This Is the 'Spare Heart'



This photo-diagram identifies main parts of the artificial heart and lung machine described Dec. 3 to Ohio chapter of American College of Physicians meeting in Cleveland. Machine is enclosed in a glass case, 30 inches high and 16 inches wide and 18 inches deep. Blood from patient's veins would flow through plastic tubes into artificial lung cylinder where it would be purified and refreshed. Then the mechanical heart pump would take over, pulsing blood through plastic tube to the main artery. Machine was specially produced by the J. J. Ashton Co., a New York engineering development firm, in a joint project with Hahnemann Medical College and Drexel Institute of Technology.



This is what would happen when functions of human heart are taken over by the artificial heart and lung machine described Dec. 3 before Ohio chapter of American College of Chest Physicians in Cleveland. Intended to perform work of both the heart and the lungs, machine is designed to maintain normal circulation while detouring patient's blood around the heart. Black tubes are to carry dark, waste-laden blood to artificial lung; shaded tube is path of clear, refreshed blood pumped back to the patient's artery by mechanical heart. The machine, used successfully on dogs, is at Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia, for use on human patient, probably as a last desperate measure on someone whose heart stops during surgery.

As Pegler Sees It

half of my insurance? Why not make him pay half of my rent and my grocery bill?"

"We will get to that in a few years," the guy insisted. "Meanwhile, when Congress says the boss pays half of your insurance, he pays. By the way, has your wife got a housemaid?"

"Just old Hattie," Mrs. Spelvin said. "She is a kind of broken-down old rummy, lives down by Railroad street. She comes in and dirties around the place Fridays and I give her $1.25 an hour."

"Then you better start keeping score," the guy said, "because if you pay her more than $50 any three months you have got to pay my insurance company one and one-half per cent of all over $50."

"I have to pay for her insurance?" Mary exclaimed. "Damned if I will. Let the old bum buy her own insurance. Anyway, how can I tell whether it is going to be $50 or $38.60 three months in advance? Sometimes she goes on unemployment relief for weeks. You can't ever tell in advance.

"That is your problem," the guy said. "And when you do pay the one and one-half per cent, don't forget to deduct another one and one-half per cent from her pay and send that in, too."

"That I could never do," Mary said. "That would be stealing. I haven't got any right to take her money out of her pay and give it to a busted insurance company for insurance she doesn't want. Does she know about this? Did you consult her?"

"She don't have to know. It is none of her business."

The guy puts his papers in his folder and started to go.

"Don't forget, now," he said with a glare at Mary. "Keep accounts and send it in every three months or your old man will be bringing you apples and candy bars on visitors' day and kiss you through a dirty three-ply wire screen."

"Do you really believe it is true?" Mrs. Spelvin asked when the guy was out the door.

"I don't know," said George Spelvin, American. "I just know I don't like the smell of jails. I guess we better buy their insurance."

'Operation Reindeer'

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Refregier's Murals Due for Ocean Trips

Woodstock, Dec. 5—Murals by Anton Refregier were among a unique collection of contemporary American art, which is soon to be installed aboard America's two newest, fastest and most luxurious ocean liners, the S. S. Independence and the S. S. Constitution. The works were on exhibition during the week of Nov. 15 at the Park Lane Hotel in New York.

The "seagoing" exhibit, featuring a wide range of varied art from a 40 by 8 foot mural to tiny mosaics, was under the sponsorship of the American Export Lines, which will operate the 25-knot, 1000-passenger ships on express service between New York, France and Italy beginning in early 1951.

Hailed by John E. Slater, president of the American Export Lines, as "an important contribution . . . to international understanding," the art, he said was "in keeping with the basic objective of the lines in providing modern American living at sea." "On the one hand," he said, "they will highlight the inspiring saga of America's rich maritime tradition, while, on the other hand, they will project the utmost functional efficiency that has governed every step in the building of these luxury liners."

The artists were commissioned, on behalf of the lines, by Henry Dreyfuss, industrial designer, who also designed the interiors for the new $25,000,000 (each) liners.

Hurley Parents To Hear Lecture On 'Glory of Work'

The Rev. John Dykstra of the Hurley Reformed Church will speak on the "Glory of Work" before the Hurley Parent's Club, when the group meets December 6 at the Hurley School.

During his lecture the Rev. Mr. Dykstra will point out how maladjustment in a man or woman's work has been the source of acute unhappiness to hundreds of persons who are tied to an occupation to which they are unsuited; an occupation which gives them neither joy, nor happiness. His remarks will also touch on what the individual may come to expect from his daily work, and what, in turn, his work may do for him.

The lecture will also endeavor to underline the social and personal significance of the way in which persons earn their living. The entire talk has been designed to provide some sort of criteria by which parents may advise their children, and help establish better vocational guidance in the home.

The public is invited to attend.

The Rev. John Dykstra of the Hurley Reformed Church will speak on the "Glory of Work" before the Hurley Parent's Club, when the group meets December 6 at the Hurley School.

During his lecture the Rev. Mr. Dykstra will point out how maladjustment in a man or woman's work has been the source of acute unhappiness to hundreds of persons who are tied to an occupation to which they are unsuited; an occupation which gives them neither joy, nor happiness. His remarks will also touch on what the individual may come to expect from his daily work, and what, in turn, his work may do for him.

The lecture will also endeavor to underline the social and personal significance of the way in which persons earn their living. The entire talk has been designed to provide some sort of criteria by which parents may advise their children, and help establish better vocational guidance in the home.

The public is invited to attend.

West Point Band Plans Children's Concert Program

West Point, Dec. 5—Under the baton of First Lieut. Barry H. Drewes, assistant bandmaster, the United States Military Band will present its annual children's concert Thursday, December 7, at 2:30 p. m. in the Army Theatre here.

The program will feature "Tubby the Tuba," performed by special permission, which, through recordings, has become well known to children everywhere; a group of choral selections by the 60 voice A Cappella Children's Choir of the Newburgh Free Academy, under the direction of Robert Williams; and two special instrumentalists: Master Sgt. Anthony LaZissa, tuba, and Sgt. Pasquale Romo, saxophone.

Selections on the program will be: "The Overture to William Tell," Rossini; "On the Trail," Ferde Grofe; "Flight of the Bumblebee," Rimsky-Korsakov; "Newsreel," W. Schumann; and "Tubby the Tuba," Kleinsinger.

All school children in the area are cordially welcome to attend.

From Santa's Sleigh

Toys that really work will hold the spotlight under 1950 Christmas trees. Small mother (center) serves malted milk, swirled in her own mixer, to doll that sips from straw. The other doll recites nursery rhymes while admiring tea table set with plastic "silver" flatware and hollow-ware, crystal and china. Plastic ukelele (upper left) produces real music when played with special push-button chording device. Wheels on truck (lower left) may be removed with correctly-sized tire-changing tools. Dial telephone (upper right) works with special wooden-block "coins." Small boy coaxes swelling tones from miniature plastic electric organ (lower right).

By ANNE LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

If the toys which Santa is already loading into his sleigh are any indication, this will be a noisy Christmas. The fading sounds of his jingle bells will be replaced by the yippee-ki-ays of well-equipped small cowboys and the domestic murmurs of little mothers whose doll children actually talk back.

Emphasis this year is on realism. Dolls are more spectacularly life-like than ever. There is a sweet-faced one that sings, prays and recites nursery rhymes; there is a gaminish, tousle-headed one that sucks water through a straw, blows bubbles, sips from a spoon and, inevitably, wets her pants; and another that burps and weeps real tears.

A soft-skinned make-believe infant, with features perpetually contorted in the wailing expression of a new-born baby, achieves perhaps the ultimate — a heartbeat.

Playhouse equipment not only looks just like mother's, but much of it actually functions. A dish-washing machine cleans its own set of miniature tableware; a carpet sweeper not only cleans the rugs but sings a merry music-box song in the process; a child-size mixing machine turns out chocolate malteds that rival those at the corner drugstore.

Toys for boys also feature workability. A street-sweeper actually picks up litter; a garage features pumps that really work and elevators that hoist diminutive cars to a parking lot on the roof; cattle in a railway pen move up the loading ramp by remote control, with no assistance needed this year from small-fry engineers of electric trains.

Cowboy trappings still dominate the masculine toy field, however. Holsters, boots and spurs are as lavish as ever. A new-model gun belches a realistic puff of smoke when the trigger is pulled.

Junior range-riders are offered a corral-full of steeds that run the gamut of the price scale. A simple inflated plastic horse's head tucks into the cowboy's belt; realistic skin-covered rocking horses feature real leather saddles; a new sidewalk bike carries as Western equipment a rifle-carrying case and holster plus double saddle bags. Chuck wagons are available, too, for youngsters whose eyes are fixed on the wide-open spaces.

Circus sets are making toyland news this year, also. One plastic set features jointed animals and performers which can be arranged in almost any stance that occurs to juvenile ring-masters.

Church Minstrel Scheduled Friday

The annual minstrel sponsored by the Men's Club of the Church of the Comforter is scheduled for Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the church hall, under direction of Frank M. Elmendorf. William T. Wood is the interlocutor and Paul Barnum, accompanist.

End men are George Hudler, Charles Kelse, Arnold Horning, Raymond Parsells, Bertrand K. Burr and Arthur Souers.

In the chorus are Miss Katherine Every, Mrs. Bertrand K. Burr, first sopranos; Miss Ruth Kelley, Mrs. Robert Hudler, Mrs. Donald Wood and Miss Susan Phalen, second sopranos; Miss Jean Rider and Miss Alice Brown, altos; also, tenors, Douglas Kennedy, Donald Wood, Ronald Hudler; basses, Robert Hudler, Gordon Millham and Joseph Sills.

Members of the Men's Club have tickets for sale or they may be purchased at the door.

Six Countries Call

now consider immediately, as an important and urgent question, the intervention of the Central People's Government of the People's Republic of China in Korea, with a view to making appropriate recommendations."

In Line With Policy

The mildness of the tone was understood to be in keeping with the go-slow policy which has been put into effect during the Washington talks of British Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman. There still was no definite word as to how strong the sponsoring powers would go in a resolution which they are considering.

Meanwhile, behind-the-scenes conferences continued here, Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb arranged for a private luncheon with General Wu Hsiu-chuan today. This followed a dinner given by Lie at his home last night for Wu and several other delegates, including Jebb and Sir Benegal N. Rau of India. If any positive results were achieved at the Lie dinner, they were not yet apparent this morning.

Brief Conversation

Israel's Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said today he had only a brief conversation with Wu and considered the meeting "only a clearing of the way in the situation. It did not result itself in going one step farther toward a solution," he said.

Israel does not have diplomatic representatives in Peiping despite recognition of the Peiping regime and there is no chance for the Israeli to conduct negotiations directly for peace with the Chinese, as the Indian minister has been doing.

Sharett said that there is no plan now to ask for a diplomatic exchange. "That depends on whether there will be peace," he said. He made little of the role that Israel could play now for peace in the Far East.

Reflection Not Fire

An illusion during the rainstorm Monday night resulted in a call to the fire department at 11:13 p. m. A Van Deusen street resident, looking out a window, saw what appeared to be a chimney fire at 64 Van Buren street and notified firemen. Inspection disclosed that the reflection of a street light on a wet chimney was mistaken for a fire.

Shell Camps of Reds

Singapore (AP)—British warships are giving Communist terrorists in the dense jungles of Malaya a hot time. Units of the Far Eastern Fleet, cooperating with British air and land forces, are pumping shells into Communist camps as fast as they can be spotted.

In general, the U. S. needs to import only special purpose oils such as coconut, palm, castor and olive oils.

Koreans Excepted

nished about six times as many men for the ground fighting as the other U.N. allies and has suffered more than 90 times as many casualties.

Exact comparisons cannot be made, however. Naval contributions to the U.N. force have come from 10 nations. The ships of seven have seen combat action. The manpower involved in these contributions is not available in most cases.

Likewise, six member nations have contributed air assistance. The airmen of four have been in action. How many men are in these forces also is not available in most cases.

Moreover, there is no central clearing agency for casualties. Each national unit reports to its own government on its losses. Some of the available figures on casualties are two weeks or more old. Since they became available some of the units, especially the British Commonwealth brigade and the Turkish brigade, have been involved in heavy fighting north of Pyongyang, the former North Korean capital in the retreat before the Chinese Communist onrush.

Conditions Are 'Good'

The conditions of Robert Anderson and Mrs. Winnie Kimball, both of R.D. 3, Saugerties, are both reported as "good" at the Benedictine Hospital today. Troopers said they were injured in an autorpobile accident near Mt. Marion Monday morning.

Taft Requests . . .

committee discussed the developments in Korea and their relation to world affairs generally.

Report Given

Complaining, as he has before, that Republicans had not been asked for their advice, Taft told a news conference: "I want to make it clear that Republican leaders in Congress are not being consulted before decisions are made."

He said Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the G.O.P. floor leader, and Senators Wiley (R-Wis) and Saltonstall (R-Mass) reported to the committee on what they learned in week-end conferences at the White House and State Department.

"They were not consulted about policy at all," Taft said. "They were merely brought up to date on the facts."

Shows Telegrams, Letters

Waving a thick stack of telegrams, Taft said letters and wires indicated there is public confusion about present problems and a feeling that Washington lacks "basic leadership."

Taft said President Truman and other administration leaders should "state what the problems are" so that the public would have the facts on which to base vital decisions.

A Democratic senator, Hoey of North Carolina, came up yesterday with a demand that American troops be withdrawn from Korea. Mr. Truman made no assessment of the Korean situation.

West Point Band Plans Children's Concert Program

West Point, Dec. 5—Under the baton of First Lieut. Barry H. Drewes, assistant bandmaster, the United States Military Band will present its annual children's concert Thursday, December 7, at 2:30 p. m. in the Army Theatre here.

The program will feature "Tubby the Tuba," performed by special permission, which, through recordings, has become well known to children everywhere; a group of choral selections by the 60 voice A Cappella Children's Choir of the Newburgh Free Academy, under the direction of Robert Williams; and two special instrumentalists: Master Sgt. Anthony LaZissa, tuba, and Sgt. Pasquale Romo, saxophone.

Selections on the program will be: "The Overture to William Tell," Rossini; "On the Trail," Ferde Grofe; "Flight of the Bumblebee," Rimsky-Korsakov; "Newsreel," W. Schumann; and "Tubby the Tuba," Kleinsinger.

All school children in the area are cordially welcome to attend.

From Santa's Sleigh

Toys that really work will hold the spotlight under 1950 Christmas trees. Small mother (center) serves malted milk, swirled in her own mixer, to doll that sips from straw. The other doll recites nursery rhymes while admiring tea table set with plastic "silver" flatware and hollow-ware, crystal and china. Plastic ukelele (upper left) produces real music when played with special push-button chording device. Wheels on truck (lower left) may be removed with correctly-sized tire-changing tools. Dial telephone (upper right) works with special wooden-block "coins." Small boy coaxes swelling tones from miniature plastic electric organ (lower right).

By ANNE LARSEN
NEA Staff Writer

If the toys which Santa is already loading into his sleigh are any indication, this will be a noisy Christmas. The fading sounds of his jingle bells will be replaced by the yippee-ki-ays of well-equipped small cowboys and the domestic murmurs of little mothers whose doll children actually talk back.

Emphasis this year is on realism. Dolls are more spectacularly life-like than ever. There is a sweet-faced one that sings, prays and recites nursery rhymes; there is a gaminish, tousle-headed one that sucks water through a straw, blows bubbles, sips from a spoon and, inevitably, wets her pants; and another that burps and weeps real tears.

A soft-skinned make-believe infant, with features perpetually contorted in the wailing expression of a new-born baby, achieves perhaps the ultimate — a heart-beat.

Playhouse equipment not only looks just like mother's, but much of it actually functions. A dish-washing machine cleans its own set of miniature tableware; a carpet sweeper not only cleans the rugs but sings a merry music-box song in the process; a child-size mixing machine turns out chocolate malteds that rival those at the corner drugstore.

Toys for boys also feature workability. A street-sweeper actually picks up litter; a garage features pumps that really work and elevators that hoist diminutive cars to a parking lot on the roof; cattle in a railway pen move up the loading ramp by remote control, with no assistance needed this year from small-fry engineers of electric trains.

Cowboy trappings still dominate the masculine toy field, however. Holsters, boots and spurs are as lavish as ever. A new-model gun belches a realistic puff of smoke when the trigger is pulled.

Junior range-riders are offered a corral-full of steeds that run the gamut of the price scale. A simple inflated plastic horse's head tucks into the cowboy's belt; realistic skin-covered rocking horses feature real leather saddles; a new sidewalk bike carries as Western equipment a rifle-carrying case and holster plus double saddle bags. Chuck wagons are available, too, for youngsters whose eyes are fixed on the wide-open spaces.

Circus sets are making toyland news this year, also. One plastic set features jointed animals and performers which can be arranged in almost any stance that occurs to juvenile ring-masters.

Church Minstrel Scheduled Friday

The annual minstrel sponsored by the Men's Club of the Church of the Comforter is scheduled for Friday at 8:15 p. m. in the church hall, under direction of Frank M. Elmendorf. William T. Wood is the interlocutor and Paul Barnum, accompanist.

End men are George Hudler, Charles Kelse, Arnold Horning, Raymond Parsells, Bertrand K. Burr and Arthur Souers.

In the chorus are Miss Katherine Every, Mrs. Bertrand K. Burr, first sopranos; Miss Ruth Kelley, Mrs. Robert Hudler, Mrs. Donald Wood and Miss Susan Phalen, second sopranos; Miss Jean Rider and Miss Alice Brown, altos; also, tenors, Douglas Kennedy, Donald Wood, Ronald Hudler; basses, Robert Hudler, Gordon Millham and Joseph Sills.

Members of the Men's Club have tickets for sale or they may be purchased at the door.

Six Countries Call

now consider immediately, as an important and urgent question, the intervention of the Central People's Government of the People's Republic of China in Korea, with a view to making appropriate recommendations."

In Line With Policy

The mildness of the tone was understood to be in keeping with the go-slow policy which has been put into effect during the Washington talks of British Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman. There still was no definite word as to how strong the sponsoring powers would go in a resolution which they are considering.

Meanwhile, behind-the-scenes conferences continued here, Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb arranged for a private luncheon with General Wu Hsiu-chuan today. This followed a dinner given by Lie at his home last night for Wu and several other delegates, including Jebb and Sir Benegal N. Rau of India. If any positive results were achieved at the Lie dinner, they were not yet apparent this morning.

Brief Conversation

Israel's Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett said today he had only a brief conversation with Wu and considered the meeting "only a clearing of the way in the situation. It did not result itself in going one step farther toward a solution," he said.

Israel does not have diplomatic representatives in Peiping despite recognition of the Peiping regime and there is no chance for the Israeli to conduct negotiations directly for peace with the Chinese, as the Indian minister has been doing.

Sharett said that there is no plan now to ask for a diplomatic exchange. "That depends on whether there will be peace," he said. He made little of the role that Israel could play now for peace in the Far East.

Reflection Not Fire

An illusion during the rainstorm Monday night resulted in a call to the fire department at 11:13 p. m. A Van Deusen street resident, looking out a window, saw what appeared to be a chimney fire at 64 Van Buren street and notified firemen. Inspection disclosed that the reflection of a street light on a wet chimney was mistaken for a fire.

Shell Camps of Reds

Singapore (AP)—British warships are giving Communist terrorists in the dense jungles of Malaya a hot time. Units of the Far Eastern Fleet, cooperating with British air and land forces, are pumping shells into Communist camps as fast as they can be spotted.

In general, the U. S. needs to import only special purpose oils such as coconut, palm, castor and olive oils.

Koreans Excepted

nished about six times as many men for the ground fighting as the other U.N. allies and has suffered more than 90 times as many casualties.

Exact comparisons cannot be made, however. Naval contributions to the U.N. force have come from 10 nations. The ships of seven have seen combat action. The manpower involved in these contributions is not available in most cases.

Likewise, six member nations have contributed air assistance. The airmen of four have been in action. How many men are in these forces also is not available in most cases.

Moreover, there is no central clearing agency for casualties. Each national unit reports to its own government on its losses. Some of the available figures on casualties are two weeks or more old. Since they became available some of the units, especially the British Commonwealth brigade and the Turkish brigade, have been involved in heavy fighting north of Pyongyang, the former North Korean capital in the retreat before the Chinese Communist onrush.

Conditions Are 'Good'

The conditions of Robert Anderson and Mrs. Winnie Kimball, both of R.D. 3, Saugerties, are both reported as "good" at the Benedictine Hospital today. Troopers said they were injured in an automobile accident near Mt. Marion Monday morning.

committee discussed the developments in Korea and their relation to world affairs generally.

Report Given

Complaining, as he has before, that Republicans had not been asked for their advice, Taft told a news conference: "I want to make it clear that Republican leaders in Congress are not being consulted before decisions are made."

He said Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the G.O.P. floor leader, and Senators Wiley (R-Wis) and Saltonstall (R-Mass) reported to the committee on what they learned in week-end conferences at the White House and State Department.

"They were not consulted about policy at all," Taft said. "They were merely brought up to date on the facts."

Shows Telegrams, Letters

Waving a thick stack of telegrams, Taft said letters and wires indicated there is public confusion about present problems and a feeling that Washington lacks "basic leadership."

Taft said President Truman and other administration leaders should "state what the problems are" so that the public would have the facts on which to base vital decisions.

A Democratic senator, Hoey of North Carolina, came up yesterday with a demand that American troops be withdrawn from Korea. Mr. Truman made no assessment of the Korean situation.

'Poughkeepsie and Liberty Are Loaded' Chant Around DUSO Circuit

"Poughkeepsie and Liberty High are loaded!"

That's the watchword around the DUSO Basketball League circuit, as the teams prepare for the 1950-51 kickoff on Friday night.

And who have the DUSO schedule makers selected as the first sacrificial lambs to test the Poughkeepsie monster? Little old Kingston High School; Friday night, 8:30 o'clock, at the municipal auditorium.

The Maroons will be decided underdogs against the Blue powerhouse, but the traditional K.H.S. inviolability on the Broadway planks gives them an outside chance to stagger the Blues in their first outing.

Coach Sam Kalloch has the material and the record to be rated co-favorites with Liberty. The corpulent Kalloch has seven returning lettermen, including the first string five intact and a 1949-50 record of 14 wins and 4 losses.

Gloede Returns

Tom Gloede, 6-foot-2-inch forward, who set a modern scoring record at P.H.S. last year, heads the invading contingent, along with four other regulars—Eggie Johnson, forward; Roger "Slim" Lewis, 6-foot-5-inch center; Jimmy Lewis and either John Lapo or Dick Rubin in the guard slots.

Other lettermen with the team are Stan Doremus and John Malally, the giant football end. Three others—Bob Lominski, John McKeown and Joe Kowalski—had varsity experience but failed to make their P's. Best looking prospects culled from the Jayvees are Elmer Suther, 6 foot 5 inch center; Stewart Slessar and Leo Elwell.

Poughkeepsie will have a pull in height and weight over the Kiasmen, who will have only returning regular—center Moll Leonard. The other tentative starters, including Chil Caruso, Mike Provenzano and George Carpouzis have had varsity experience. Coach Kias has yet to name his fifth starter.

Seven Vets at Liberty

Coach Jack George has seven lettermen at Liberty High and two of the best players in the DUSO conference in center Wayne Mauer and Richard Gabrielson, a guard. The Redskins showed real power in crushing Goshen, 62-25, Friday night in Liberty. Mauer dunked 17 points and Gabrielson had 15. Other veterans are Seiken, Bullock, Orseck, Pelsang and Laskey.

Coach Bob Markes will have five lettermen in his 15-man varsity squad, including all-DUSO Bob Brown, team captain; Stu Decker, Earle Oakley, Bob Doran and Al Currier. Other standouts are Sherry Schuerholz, Charlie Newkork, Joe Sotelo, Dick Bray and Dave Ritter.

Ellenville High returns to the DUSO fold after a long absence and Coach Norman Schwartz has a "fairly good" varsity squad. They are facing the season with optimism and are happy to have a big league schedule.

Recreations Rally in Last Two Minutes to Defeat Monticello, 71 to 67

G. Holstein's Four Points Decide Hard Fought Game

Locals Square Record In O-S Circuit

The Recreations balanced their Orange-Sullivan League ledger with a brilliant second half drive to trip the powerful Monticello Legion, 71-67, last night at the municipal auditorium.

Last minute heroics by George Holstein and Frank Sass, the perennial captain, humbled the mountaineers in a hard fought battle that attracted only a sparse gathering of less than 75 spectators.

Despite a momentary lead early in the fourth period, the Recs trailed 66-67 with two minutes remaning. At this point, George Holstein dribbled the length of the court for a driving layup that sent the Recs ahead, 68-67.

Morty Kaplan, the Monties' siege gun, missed with a desperation shot from long range, the Recs picking up the rebound. George Holstein was fouled in the act of shooting and calmly dropped both shots from the charity line to give the Recs a 70-67 margin with 15 seconds remaining.

Recs Rally

On the next jump ball, Frank Sass was fouled and he also converted to ice the contest at 71-67.

With Kaplan and Avery doing the heaviest damage, Monticello led 19-12 in a slow first period. Action levelled off in the second quarter and the Monties went into the dressing room leading 35-27.

The Rec attack began to click after the recess, with the Holstein brothers—George and Lafayette—hitting consistently and Red Murray sinking long set shots at critical moments. Andy Murphy's cagers breezed to a 22-13 bulge for the third period to lead 49-48 going into the stretch.

Kaplan Sinks 17

Nobody was surprised when Morty Kaplan, the shifty sharpshooting Monticello forward, led the individual scorers with 17 points. Herb Avery and Norm Schwartz each tossed in 14 for the visitors, Prince had 11 and Podhurst 10.

Lafayette "Champ" Hoistein set the pace for the Recreations with 14 points and brother George's 10 markers included the pivotal shots in the final minutes. Rod Sagendorf accounted for 11 points, while Doug Mathers and Red Murray shared 17.

The Recs entertain the Jeffersonville squad here next Monday night.

Elston's Sport Shop basketeers made their final appearance as a unit by thumping the Recreation Bs, 50-42, in last night's preliminary at the municipal auditorium.

Most of the Elston cagers are members of the K.H.S. varsity squad which opens the DUSO League season against Poughkeepsie Friday night.

Leroy Hooker, scoring whiz of last season's Jayvees, accounted for 22 points to lead Elstons, while "Bones" Hampton and Charlie Tiano accounted for 12 and 11 respectively. A 16-8 bulge in the fourth period decided the game for Elstons.

Mizel's Ladies Too Tough For Men

Keglerettes Trounce Keglers by 64 Pins

Maynard Mizel's lady keglers have been crowned bowling champions of the Smith Avenue Storage domain, as the result of a 64-pin victory over the males in a special match over the weekend.

This was an even-up match, with no handicap, and the distaff dazzlers turned on the heat in the third game to win going away, 2380 to 2316.

The males (????) won the opener 7[illegible]782 and the gals took a squeaker in the middle set, 754-753. Apparently, the pressure got the boys in the stretch and they slumped to 778, while mesdames were rolling up 844.

The two Evelyns — Gross and Francis — shot 529 and 503 respectively. Mrs. Francis's 203 was high single for the match.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn tried valiantly to prevent this travesty on bowling justice by hitting 530 for the men.

Meyer Will Remain With Pirates; Yanks Seek Wight, Ed Robinson

Benny Borgmann To Pilot Houston

BY JOE REICHLER

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 5 (AP)—The last undetermined managerial post in the major leagues is expected to be settled Thursday when Pittsburgh General Manager Branch Rickey and the incumbent pilot Bill Meyer meet here.

Indications are that the 57-year-old Meyer is to be retained for the 1951 season at least, after which his three-year contract calling for $40,000 per annum is at an end.

With a minimum of action taking place at the 49th Minor League Convention—aside from the player draft—the Pittsburgh managerial guessing game was the chief topic of conversation among the 2,000 baseball men meeting here.

There are three solid reasons to back up the probability that Meyer will be back for his fourth year at Pittsburgh despite a last place finish in 1950 and a sweeping change in the front office from ownership down.

1—Meyer has been told to leave his Knoxville, Tenn., home to meet with Rickey at St. Petersburg Thursday. Rickey is en route here from New York. It was felt that you don't call a man hundreds of miles from home to tell him he is fired.

2—A New York Yankee official confided that Meyer was Kansas City's first choice to succeed Joe Ruhel as manager. When Kansas City became convinced, according to this official, that Meyer would remain at Pittsburgh, the Blues' post went to George Selkirk. The former Yankee outfielder, who led Binghamton to second place in the Eastern League last year, was officially named to the Kansas City post last night.

3—Rickey is loathe to pay Meyer $40,000 for not managing in addition to paying another man for doing the job. Meyer has an iron-bound contract stipulating that he be paid unless he quits. And Bill has no intention of doing that.

Branch Rckey, Jr., newly appointed Pittsburgh executive, said he had "no definite word on the Meyer situation."

Higgins at Louisville

Another Associated Press report was confirmed, besides the Selkirk appointment, with the announcement by Louisville President Ed Dougherty that Frank (Pinky) Higgins had been named manager of the Colonels to succeed Mike Ryba.

Ryba later was expected to take over the reins of the Columbus club left vacant by the resignation of Rollie Hemsley.

Columbus President Al Banister admitted that Ryba was "high on the list of candidates."

Ryba, also is a candidate for a coaching job with the St. Louis Cardinals, was to confer today with Marty Marion, newly appointed Redbird skipper.

Other minor league managerial jobs reported filled but not officially announced are:

Benny Borgmann at Houston, Lambert (Dutch) Meyer at Dallas, and Harry Craft at Binghamton.

Yanks Seek Wight

The only major league appointee was Jimmy Adair, who was named coach of the Chicago White Sox. Adair, a former major league infielder, was a high school teammate of Chicago manager Paul Richards in Texas. The Cleveland Indians signed Tom Downey, formerly with Brooklyn, as a scout.

Trade rumors flew thick and thin. The hottest concerned the Yankees and White Sox and involved southpaw Bill Wight and first baseman Ed Robinson of the Sox and lefthander Tommy Byrne, first baseman Joe Collins and outfielder Cliff Mapes of the Yankees.

The Indians also were trying to wrangel Wight or southpaw Billy Pierce from Chicago in exchange for pitcher Steve Gromek and rookie outfielders Orestes Minoso.

Brooklyn Manager Charlie Dressen was seen huddling with Red Corriden, lending credence to the rumor that the former White Sox manager would be named Dodger coach.

CCNY Cagers Get First Real Test

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—A line on how CCNY's current basketball team shapes up with last season's double-champion outfit should be afforded tonight when the Beavers tackle Brigham Young, the Skyline Six champion.

Winner of three straight, including an 84-69 trouncing of Niagara last Saturday at Buffalo, BYU comes to Madison Square garden primed to test New York's NCAA and NIT kingpins. City College has already beaten St. Francis of Brooklyn and the Queens teams but looks for much more trouble from the far westerners.

The CCNY-BYU clash will follow one between New York University (making its season bow) and Oregon State. That curtain raiser of the twin bill starts at 8 p. m. (E.S.T.) and the second game begins about 9:45.

CCNY has four of its last season starters back in action, including Ed Warner and Ed Roman, the fast-breaking team's key scorers. The host squad has been installed a slight choice.

Coach Nat Holman saw BYU whip Niagara and has high respect for tonight's foe. He said the Skyline cagers have depth, height and are well coached. "I told my boys they'll have to go all out," says Holman, "and that if they don't hustle they'll get licked."

"Poughkeepsie and Liberty High are loaded!"

That's the watchword around the DUSO Basketball League circuit, as the teams prepare for the 1950-51 kickoff on Friday night.

And who have the DUSO schedule makers selected as the first sacrificial lambs to test the Poughkeepsie monster? Little old Kingston High School; Friday night, 8:30 o'clock, at the municipal auditorium.

The Maroons will be decided underdogs against the Blue powerhouse, but the traditional K.H.S. inviolability on the Broadway planks gives them an outside chance to stagger the Blues in their first outing.

Coach Sam Kalloch has the material and the record to be rated co-favorites with Liberty. The corpulent Kalloch has seven returning lettermen, including the first string five intact and a 1949-50 record of 14 wins and 4 losses.

Gloede Returns

Tom Gloede, 6-foot-2-inch forward, who set a modern scoring record at P.H.S. last year, heads the invading contingent, along with four other regulars—Eggie Johnson, forward; Roger "Slim" Lewis, 6-foot-5-inch center; Jimmy Lewis and either John Lapo or Dick Rubin in the guard slots.

Other lettermen with the team are Stan Doremus and John Malally, the giant football end. Three others—Bob Lominski, John McKeown and Joe Kowalski—had varsity experience but failed to make their P's. Best looking prospects culled from the Jayvees are Elmer Suther, 6 foot 5 inch center; Stewart Slessar and Leo Elwell.

Poughkeepsie will have a pull in height and weight over the Kiasmen, who will have only returning regular—center Moll Leonard. The other tentative starters, including Chil Caruso, Mike Provenzano and George Carpouzis have had varsity experience. Coach Kias has yet to name his fifth starter.

Seven Vets at Liberty

Coach Jack George has seven lettermen at Liberty High and two of the best players in the DUSO conference in center Wayne Mauer and Richard Gabrielson, a guard. The Redskins showed real power in crushing Goshen, 62-25, Friday night in Liberty. Mauer dunked 17 points and Gabrielson had 15. Other veterans are Seiken, Bullock, Orseck, Pelsang and Laskey.

Coach Bob Markes will have five lettermen in his 15-man varsity squad, including all-DUSO Bob Brown, team captain; Stu Decker, Earle Oakley, Bob Doran and Al Currier. Other standouts are Sherry Schuerholz, Charlie Newkork, Joe Sotelo, Dick Bray and Dave Ritter.

Ellenville High returns to the DUSO fold after a long absence and Coach Norman Schwartz has a "fairly good" varsity squad. They are facing the season with optimism and are happy to have a big league schedule.

Recreations Rally in Last Two Minutes to Defeat Monticello, 71 to 67

G. Holstein's Four Points Decide Hard Fought Game

Locals Square Record In O-S Circuit

The Recreations balanced their Orange-Sullivan League ledger with a brilliant second half drive to trip the powerful Monticello Legion, 71-67, last night at the municipal auditorium.

Last minute heroics by George Holstein and Frank Sass, the perennial captain, humbled the mountaineers in a hard fought battle that attracted only a sparse gathering of less than 75 spectators.

Despite a momentary lead early in the fourth period, the Recs trailed 66-67 with two minutes remaning. At this point, George Holstein dribbled the length of the court for a driving layup that sent the Recs ahead, 68-67.

Morty Kaplan, the Monties' siege gun, missed with a desperation shot from long range, the Recs picking up the rebound. George Holstein was fouled in the act of shooting and calmly dropped both shots from the charity line to give the Recs a 70-67 margin with 15 seconds remaining.

Recs Rally

On the next jump ball, Frank Sass was fouled and he also converted to ice the contest at 71-67.

With Kaplan and Avery doing the heaviest damage, Monticello led 19-12 in a slow first period. Action levelled off in the second quarter and the Monties went into the dressing room leading 35-27.

The Rec attack began to click after the recess, with the Holstein brothers—George and Lafayette—hitting consistently and Red Murray sinking long set shots at critical moments. Andy Murphy's cagers breezed to a 22-13 bulge for the third period to lead 49-48 going into the stretch.

Kaplan Sinks 17

Nobody was surprised when Morty Kaplan, the shifty sharpshooting Monticello forward, led the individual scorers with 17 points. Herb Avery and Norm Schwartz each tossed in 14 for the visitors, Prince had 11 and Podhurst 10.

Lafayette "Champ" Hoistein set the pace for the Recreations with 14 points and brother George's 10 markers included the pivotal shots in the final minutes. Rod Sagendorf accounted for 11 points, while Doug Mathers and Red Murray shared 17.

The Recs entertain the Jeffersonville squad here next Monday night.

Elston's Sport Shop basketeers made their final appearance as a unit by thumping the Recreation Bs, 50-42, in last night's preliminary at the municipal auditorium.

Most of the Elston cagers are members of the K.H.S. varsity squad which opens the DUSO League season against Poughkeepsie Friday night.

Leroy Hooker, scoring whiz of last season's Jayvees, accounted for 22 points to lead Elstons, while "Bones" Hampton and Charlie Tiano accounted for 12 and 11 respectively. A 16-8 bulge in the fourth period decided the game for Elstons.

Mizel's Ladies Too Tough For Men

Keglerettes Trounce Keglers by 64 Pins

Maynard Mizel's lady keglers have been crowned bowling champions of the Smith Avenue Storage domain, as the result of a 64-pin victory over the males in a special match over the weekend.

This was an even-up match, with no handicap, and the distaff dazzlers turned on the heat in the third game to win going away, 2380 to 2316.

The males (????) won the opener 7[illegible]782 and the gals took a squeaker in the middle set, 754-753. Apparently, the pressure got the boys in the stretch and they slumped to 778, while mesdames were rolling up 844.

The two Evelyns — Gross and Francis — shot 529 and 503 respectively. Mrs. Francis's 203 was high single for the match.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn tried valiantly to prevent this travesty on bowling justice by hitting 530 for the men.

Mike Amato, the tonsorial expert, was obviously overcome by the whole thing and came up with a staggering 340.

The score:

BY JOE REICHLER

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 5 (AP)—The last undetermined managerial post in the major leagues is expected to be settled Thursday when Pittsburgh General Manager Branch Rickey and the incumbent pilot Bill Meyer meet here.

Indications are that the 57-year-old Meyer is to be retained for the 1951 season at least, after which his three-year contract calling for $40,000 per annum is at an end.

With a minimum of action taking place at the 49th Minor League Convention—aside from the player draft—the Pittsburgh managerial guessing game was the chief topic of conversation among the 2,000 baseball men meeting here.

There are three solid reasons to back up the probability that Meyer will be back for his fourth year at Pittsburgh despite a last place finish in 1950 and a sweeping change in the front office from ownership down.

1—Meyer has been told to leave his Knoxville, Tenn., home to meet with Rickey at St. Petersburg Thursday. Rickey is en route here from New York. It was felt that you don't call a man hundreds of miles from home to tell him he is fired.

2—A New York Yankee official confided that Meyer was Kansas City's first choice to succeed Joe Ruhel as manager. When Kansas City became convinced, according to this official, that Meyer would remain at Pittsburgh, the Blues' post went to George Selkirk. The former Yankee outfielder, who led Binghamton to second place in the Eastern League last year, was officially named to the Kansas City post last night.

3—Rickey is loathe to pay Meyer $40,000 for not managing in addition to paying another man for doing the job. Meyer has an iron-bound contract stipulating that he be paid unless he quits. And Bill has no intention of doing that.

Branch Rckey, Jr., newly appointed Pittsburgh executive, said he had "no definite word on the Meyer situation."

Higgins at Louisville

Another Associated Press report was confirmed, besides the Selkirk appointment, with the announcement by Louisville President Ed Dougherty that Frank (Pinky) Higgins had been named manager of the Colonels to succeed Mike Ryba.

Ryba later was expected to take over the reins of the Columbus club left vacant by the resignation of Rollie Hemsley.

Columbus President Al Banister admitted that Ryba was "high on the list of candidates."

Ryba, also is a candidate for a coaching job with the St. Louis Cardinals, was to confer today with Marty Marion, newly appointed Redbird skipper.

Other minor league managerial jobs reported filled but not officially announced are:

Benny Borgmann at Houston, Lambert (Dutch) Meyer at Dallas, and Harry Craft at Binghamton.

Yanks Seek Wight

The only major league appointee was Jimmy Adair, who was named coach of the Chicago White Sox. Adair, a former major league infielder, was a high school teammate of Chicago manager Paul Richards in Texas. The Cleveland Indians signed Tom Downey, formerly with Brooklyn, as a scout.

Trade rumors flew thick and thin. The hottest concerned the Yankees and White Sox and involved southpaw Bill Wight and first baseman Ed Robinson of the Sox and lefthander Tommy Byrne, first baseman Joe Collins and outfielder Cliff Mapes of the Yankees.

The Indians also were trying to wrangel Wight or southpaw Billy Pierce frrom Chicago in exchange for pitcher Steve Gromek and rookie outfielders Orestes Minoso.

Bowling

Joe "Chesty" Mitchell came up with a new high single for the City Minor League last night—251—while Frank Deuire's 208-212-190-610 blast copped individual honors. Twenty-seven keglers hit "500" or better, with Bill Murray posting 224-204-605 for runnerup honors.

Other good pinfall went to Pete Tiano 210-570; Harry Secreto 203-557; Joe Dulin 200-557; Joe Bartsch Sr. 557; Joe Hoffman 201-549; B. Mericle 546; Joe Misasi 540; Joe Sills 535; Cleon Robinson 222-533; Jack Blinder 528; W. MacElveen 214-528; Joe Mitchell 251-522.

A big 244 third set, behind 150 and 182, enabled Eddie Bahl to pace the Good Neighbor circuit with a 576 blast. Joe Singer's 213-558 was good for runnerup honors, and Ben Marcus was in the show spot with 206-221-551, after a 124 opener. Also top bracket were Lou Kantrowitz's 550; Mitzie Arlensky 547; George Svirsky 537; Ben Orkoff 527; B. Abelove 522 and Les Lessick 201-520.

Joe Heidcamp, Jr., took over high score honors in the Tavern Association circuit, with a 220-211-147-578 blast. Veteran Pres Knight trailed by nine pins on 202-201-569. Ed Heins shot 568; Billy Ball 220-561; Lou Misasi 545; W. Sickler 200-544; Don McConnell 202-543; F. J. Provenzano 533; Leo Marino 228-533; J. Fatum 531.

Evelyn Gross' 519 led a low-scoring session of the Women's Shuffling Major last night at the Bowlodrome, the Blonde Bomber posting high single of 192. Elizabeth Bruck shot 511; Sue Heins 507; Ada Markle 481; and Rose Schatzel 205-480.

Of the four keglerettes over the "400" mark in the B.Y.A. circuit, Nell Glennon was No. 1 with a 160-145-161-466 triple. Blanch Carnright shot 464; Lillian Ferraro 428 and Nellie Alverson 425.

John Howard was far and away the best pin buster in the Scranton Lace wheel, his 195-176-183-554 overshadowing the field by a wide margin. B. Cameron posted 490; J. Reid 475; E. Hinkley 471; and F. Colao 467.

Don Vogel set a new individual record with 251 in the Independent wheel and tacked on other scores of 193 and 156 for an even 600 to top the league in that division. Bobby Jones had 203-202-569; Harry Wilber 207-562; Eddie Marks 555; Milt Cole Sr. 553; Harry Cornish 203-553; Ray Roux 212-551; Charlie Grunenwald 551; Jim Daniels 548; and Jake Francis 542. F. STOPPING TRAFFIC—Tackles don't always follow the style preferred by coaches. Maryland end Elmer Wingate used a chinlock to stop North Carolina State's Alex Webster. Charley Drazenovich of the professional Washington Redskins pulled down the New York Giants' quarterback, Travis Tidwell, from behind with an armlock. Texas A. and M.'s Gary Anderson went in for the more orthodox approach halting Baylor's Jim Jeffrey. California's Don Robinson threw Oregon State's Bill Sheffold out-of-bounds with wrist and headlock.

Mystery

The Latin words on the seal which appears on U. S. paper money mean "Seal of the Treasury of North America," and this seal is the last thing placed on the money. Why the words North America were used instead of United States is unknown.

It's an Average

Generally speaking, a man of 50 has slept 6000 days, worked 6500 days, walked 800 days, amused himself 4000 days, eaten 1500 days, and been ill 500 days.

Fallacy

CLEAN A RIFLE OF DIRT OR SNOW IN A JIFFY WITHOUT A CLEANING ROD

THIS CAN HAPPEN TO YOU AWAY FROM CAMP. YOU STUMBLE OR FALL AND YOUR RIFLE IS FULL OF DIRT OR SNOW. BY ALL MEANS NEVER FIRE YOUR RIFLE UNTIL ALL MATTER IS REMOVED!

UNLOAD GUN, TAP OR SHAKE OUT AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE. THEN BLOW THROUGH THE BREACH TO THE MUZZLE OF THE BORE. NOW FIRE A PRIMED CARTRIDGE AFTER FIRST REMOVING THE BULLET AND POWDER. IT SAFELY FINISHES THE JOB. YOU MIGHT CARRY A PRIMED EMPTY FOR SUCH USE.

Williams' 636 Tops City Loop

Only three trundlers were able to negotiate "600" triples in the City Bowling League last night. And veteran Ken Williams was out in front with a 205-187-244-636 triple.

John "Red" Sangi, proprietor of the dreamland drives known as the Central Recs, powered 212-192-226-630 and Harold Broskie, currently in a scoring streak, shot 232-201-610.

Richard Howard near-missed with 205-200-599 and Johnny "Ace" Ferraro suffered letdown after 206 and 223 for 595. Eddie Murphy also faded after a 257 opener for a 591 overall.

35 New Members Hear About Moose Program at Rites

Thirty-five new members of Kingston Lodge 970 heard about the program of the Loyal Order of Moose Sunday when they were initiated into the order at ceremonies in the clubhouse on Broadway and Thomas street.

Principal speaker was Ray Semor of Chicago who explained the activities of the Moose in behalf of children and elderly folk who live at the homes of the organization.

Semor, editor of Moose magazine, a monthly publication received by members, said Mooseheart, near Chicago, furnishes a home for 850 children, furnishing them with all the necessities of life—education and the religious instructions of the faith to which they belong.

He urged all Moose for whom it is possible to visit the 1,800 acre reservation to observe the Moose in action and see the new House of God recently dedicated where all may worship in the faith they choose.

Moosehaven in Florida caters to 460 Moose members and their wives, who are without homes. "They enjoy all the comforts one could desire," Semor said.

Relative to his visit to Kingston, the speaker complimented the local lodge on its fine spirit, and wished the organization good fortune with its recently purchased home, the former Coykendall estate on West Chestnut street.

"It is one of the finest, if not the finest Moose property in the nation," he said, adding "I have seen them all."

Semor urged the members of Kingston lodge to take a real active part in maintaining the building. "It will take a lot of cooperation to keep it going, but I'm sure that phase will be well taken care of," he said.

Sunday's meeting was presided over by Charles J. Turck, governor of Kingston Lodge, who introduced the speaker and welcomed the new members to the Order.

Demand Full Voice

New Delhi, India, Dec. 5 (AP)—Communist China has demanded a "full voice' in any Korean settlement, sources close to India's Foreign Ministry said today. These sources said India's delegate to the United Nations, Sir Benegal N. Rau, after talks in New York with Peiping Representative Wu Hsiu-Chuan, reported that the Chinese were insistent that they participate as an equal party in deliberations on the Korean question.

See Charles In Breeze Over Barone

Cincinnati, Dec. 5 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles lays his title on the line for the fifth time tonight in a 15-rounder with Nick Barone, sturdy slugger from Syracuse.

The guessers have a hunch the 29-year-old Cincinnati Negro isn't taking too much of a risk with the precious bauble, and have installed him as a 5-1 favorite.

The wizards of odds declare the challenger has never met anyone boasting the all-around class of the current king. But the New Yorker, a 24-year-old ex-Marine with plenty of hot action in the Pacific, is no novice.

In 52 fights he has never been off his feet. He has knocked out 21 opponents, and has lost but five bouts—four by decision and one on a TKO when the referee stopped it after Barone suffered a cut near his eye.

This is Charles' first appearance since outpointing former Champ Joe Louis in September. The Mahatma of the heavies is getting 42½ per cent of the gate, with no guarantee, and he doesn't expect too hefty a payday since the gross is expected to be around $50,000. Barone gets 17½ per cent.

Joe "Chesty" Mitchell came up with a new high single for the City Minor League last night—251—while Frank Deuire's 208-212-190-610 blast copped individual honors. Twenty-seven keglers hit "500" or better, with Bill Murray posting 224-204-605 for runnerup honors.

Other good pinfall went to Pete Tiano 210-570; Harry Secreto 203-557; Joe Dulin 200-557; Joe Bartsch Sr. 557; Joe Hoffman 201-549; B. Mericle 546; Joe Misasi 540; Joe Sills 535; Cleon Robinson 222-533; Jack Blinder 528; W. MacElveen 214-528; Joe Mitchell 251-522.

A big 244 third set, behind 150 and 182, enabled Eddie Bahl to pace the Good Neighbor circuit with a 576 blast. Joe Singer's 213-558 was good for runnerup honors, and Ben Marcus was in the show spot with 206-221-551, after a 124 opener. Also top bracket were Lou Kantrowitz's 550; Mitzie Arlensky 547; George Svirsky 537; Ben Orkoff 527; B. Abelove 522 and Les Lessick 201-520.

Joe Heidcamp, Jr., took over high score honors in the Tavern Association circuit, with a 220-211-147-578 blast. Veteran Pres Knight trailed by nine pins on 202-201-569. Ed Heins shot 568; Billy Ball 220-561; Lou Misasi 545; W. Sickler 200-544; Don McConnell 202-543; F. J. Provenzano 533; Leo Marino 228-533; J. Fatum 531.

Evelyn Gross' 519 led a low-scoring session of the Women's Shuffling Major last night at the Bowlodrome, the Blonde Bomber posting high single of 192. Elizabeth Bruck shot 511; Sue Heins 507; Ada Markle 481; and Rose Schatzel 205-480.

Of the four keglerettes over the "400" mark in the B.Y.A. circuit, Nell Glennon was No. 1 with a 160-145-161-466 triple. Blanch Carnright shot 464; Lillian Ferraro 428 and Nellie Alverson 425.

John Howard was far and away the best pin buster in the Scranton Lace wheel, his 195-176-183-554 overshadowing the field by a wide margin. B. Cameron posted 490; J. Reid 475; E. Hinkley 471; and F. Colao 467.

Don Vogel set a new individual record with 251 in the Independent wheel and tacked on other scores of 193 and 156 for an even 600 to top the league in that division. Bobby Jones had 203-202-569; Harry Wilber 207-562; Eddie Marks 555; Milt Cole Sr. 553; Harry Cornish 203-553; Ray Roux 212-551; Charlie Grunenwald 551; Jim Daniels 548; and Jake Francis 542. F. Schick pounded a 242 in the first game.

STOPPING TRAFFIC—Tackles don't always follow the style preferred by coaches. Maryland end Elmer Wingate used a chinlock to stop North Carolina State's Alex Webster. Charley Drazenovich of the professional Washington Redskins pulled down the New York Giants' quarterback, Travis Tidwell, from behind with an armlock. Texas A. and M.'s Gary Anderson went in for the more orthodox approach halting Baylor's Jim Jeffrey. California's Don Robinson threw Oregon State's Bill Sheffold out-of-bounds with wrist and headlock.

Mystery

The Latin words on the seal which appears on U. S. paper money mean "Seal of the Treasury of North America," and this seal is the last thing placed on the money. Why the words North America were used instead of United States is unknown.

It's an Average

Generally speaking, a man of 50 has slept 6000 days, worked 6500 days, walked 800 days, amused himself 4000 days, eaten 1500 days, and been ill 500 days.

Fallacy

Williams' 636 Tops City Loop

Only three trundlers were able to negotiate "600" triples in the City Bowling League last night. And veteran Ken Williams was out in front with a 205-187-244-636 triple.

John "Red" Sangi, proprietor of the dreamland drives known as the Central Recs, powered 212-192-226-630 and Harold Broskie, currently in a scoring streak, shot 232-201-610.

Richard Howard near-missed with 205-200-599 and Johnny "Ace" Ferraro suffered letdown after 206 and 223 for 595. Eddie Murphy also faded after a 257 opener for a 591 overall.

35 New Members Hear About Moose Program at Rites

Thirty-five new members of Kingston Lodge 970 heard about the program of the Loyal Order of Moose Sunday when they were initiated into the order at ceremonies in the clubhouse on Broadway and Thomas street.

Principal speaker was Ray Semor of Chicago who explained the activities of the Moose in behalf of children and elderly folk who live at the homes of the organization.

Semor, editor of Moose magazine, a monthly publication received by members, said Mooseheart, near Chicago, furnishes a home for 850 children, furnishing them with all the necessities of life—education and the religious instructions of the faith to which they belong.

He urged all Moose for whom it is possible to visit the 1,800 acre reservation to observe the Moose in action and see the new House of God recently dedicated where all may worship in the faith they choose.

Moosehaven in Florida caters to 460 Moose members and their wives, who are without homes. "They enjoy all the comforts one could desire," Semor said.

Relative to his visit to Kingston, the speaker complimented the local lodge on its fine spirit, and wished the organization good fortune with its recently purchased home, the former Coykendall estate on West Chestnut street.

"It is one of the finest, if not the finest Moose property in the nation," he said, adding "I have seen them all."

Semor urged the members of Kingston lodge to take a real active part in maintaining the building. "It will take a lot of cooperation to keep it going, but I'm sure that phase will be well taken care of," he said.

Sunday's meeting was presided over by Charles J. Turck, governor of Kingston Lodge, who introduced the speaker and welcomed the new members to the Order.

Demand Full Voice

New Delhi, India, Dec. 5 (AP)—Communist China has demanded a "full voice' in any Korean settlement, sources close to India's Foreign Ministry said today. These sources said India's delegate to the United Nations, Sir Benegal N. Rau, after talks in New York with Peiping Representative Wu Hsiu-Chuan, reported that the Chinese were insistent that they participate as an equal party in deliberations on the Korean question.

See Charles In Breeze Over Barone

Cincinnati, Dec. 5 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Ezzard Charles lays his title on the line for the fifth time tonight in a 15-rounder with Nick Barone, sturdy slugger from Syracuse.

The guessers have a hunch the 29-year-old Cincinnati Negro isn't taking too much of a risk with the precious bauble, and have installed him as a 5-1 favorite.

The wizards of odds declare the challenger has never met anyone boasting the all-around class of the current king. But the New Yorker, a 24-year-old ex-Marine with plenty of hot action in the Pacific, is no novice.

In 52 fights he has never been off his feet. He has knocked out 21 opponents, and has lost but five bouts—four by decision and one on a TKO when the referee stopped it after Barone suffered a cut near his eye.

This is Charles' first appearance since outpointing former Champ Joe Louis in September. The Mahatma of the heavies is getting 42½ per cent of the gate, with no guarantee, and he doesn't expect too hefty a payday since the gross is expected to be around $50,000. Barone gets 17½ per cent.

Truman Says . . .

the country for bad news—news of a military disaster in Korea—the President added:

"No matter how the immediate situation may develop, we must remember that the fighting in Korea is but one part of the tremendous struggle of our time—the struggle between freedom and Communist imperialism."

'No Agreements' Report

Mr. Truman and Attlee reached no agreements in their opening talk yesterday but diplomatic informants reported they were moving toward an agreement that western Europe is the place to offset Communist victories in the Far East.

As far as the present military situation is concerned, it is understood that the President and prime minister dealt with three alternatives and found themselves facing a choice between complete and partial defeat in their initial analysis.

The idea of establishing and holding a line across the Korean peninsula appears almost if not entirely hopeless.

May Keep Foothold

There was still some belief on the part of American leaders, however, that it might be possible again as it was earlier this year to maintain a foothold on Korea. This would be justified if there was reason to expect a new build-up of U.N. forces capable of dealing with the Chinese Communist masses and so far there is no evidence such a buildup is planned.

The other possibility which looms bigger with each days news of new Chinese Communist successes on the battlefield is a complete military defeat for the U.N. forces.

In London, a British informant said Mr. Truman and Attlee have determined that United Nations forces should return to Korea in event the Chinese Communists drive them out at this time.

Able to Return

The situation as it appears here raised doubt, however, that the United Nations coalition would be able to return at any time in the predictable future.

Mr. Truman and Attlee opened their conference yesterday in the cabinet room of the White House executive offices less than seven hours after the British leader arrived here from London. They were flanked by diplomatic and military policy makers and aides. Mr. Truman opened the session by asking Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joints chiefs of staff,

Astoria Man Held In Alleged Plot To Get $300,000

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Ora W. Grow, 47, of 23-57 33rd street, Astoria, Queens, president of the Grow System School at 112 West 42nd street, Manhattan, whom the government charges is the "mastermind" in a plot to cheat the government out of about $300,000 by fraudulent claims under the G.I. Bill of Rights, was held in $20,000 bail yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald.

Grow's arrest is the third over the week-end in connection with the alleged plot whereby attendance records of the beauty culture school were falsified, thereby enabling veterans to draw subsistence checks from the government under the G.I. Bill of Rights while never actually attending classes.

Announced by Scheidt

Grow's arrest was announced by Edward Scheidt, special agent in charge of the New York F.B.I. office. The two men previously arrested are Victor J. Triolo, an instructor at the school, and Albert Martinez, bookkeeper. Both are at liberty under $5,000 each.

According to Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis I. Kaplan, Grow was the sole owner of the business at the West 42nd street address and had been in the beauty culture school business about 20 years.

Kaplan said that after a veteran was certified as a student he would receive a monthly subsistence from the government of $125 if married or $100 if single.

Flee From Government

The school received a $500 tuition fee from the government for each student taking a 1000-hour course, and the school also received from the government from $30 to $50 for instruments and other paraphernalia, it was reported.

The prosecutor said the government had discovered that so far 273 "are directly involved in the scheme."

Kaplan said that not only would the school receive the tuition fee, but kick-backs amounting up to $25 from the monthly subsistence which the students received. He added that the school also charged for tools which the students did not use.

Scheidt said that Grow allegedly benefitted "to the tune of over 90 per cent of the take of each veteran."

Scheidt said that $1,688 in cash was found on Grow at the time of his arrest.

Grow admitted, according to Scheidt, that in 1944 he was charged with practicing medicine without a license in New York, but claimed he was acquitted by trial.

Ready for Approval

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—A multi-billion dollar excess profits tax bill was ready for House approval today. It apparently faced clear sailing in the Senate later. Passage at the close of House debate today appeared certain. There was a possibility however, that the final vote might be put off until tomorrow. Its chances for final enacting, once dim, were brightened by international developments making it obvious that no end is in sight to vast defense spending. The administration renewed a drive to swell the amount it will bring in.

SANTA'S DOWN . . . BUT HE'LL RECOVER, KIDDIES—It was a hot time in the Newark, N. J., department store window that laid Santa low, but—since you can't keep a good man down—he'll be back in tip-top shape well before Dec. 25. What happened was a small fire broke out inside the display window, and firemen who extinguished it even had to douse Santa Claus when he started to smoulder.

Some Civil Service Employes May Be Active Politically

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Attorney General Nathaniel Goldstein says it is legal for civil service employes of the state and its sub-divisions to engage in political activity, with certain exceptions.

The exceptions are police commissioners, members of police forces, and state and local employes whose salaries are paid from federal funds.

Other civil service employes must confine political work to their free time and must not use their official positions for political purposes, according to Goldstein.

The attorney general expressed his unofficial opinion in a letter to Michael J. Kehoe, Sixth ward supervisor in Yonkers. The letter dated Nov. 21, was released yesterday.

Goldstein wrote:

"I believe that an employe of the state or of any political subdivision of the state may be a member of a political committee (1) if his activity in that connection does not occur during the hours in which he is required to perform his duties to the state or a political subdivision of the state, and (2) if he does not use his official connection with the state government in the course of such political activities."

May Contribute Directly

However, Goldstein said, under the state penal law "no person who is a police commissioner or an officer or member of any police force in this state may contribute any money directly or indirectly to, or solicit or collect or receive any money for, any political fund nor may he join or become a member of any political club, association, society or committee."

Violation of this statute is a misdemeanor.

Goldstein said the federal Hatch Act, which bans political activity by federal employes, also applies to employes of states and smaller subdivisions who are paid from federal funds.

The penalty for violation of the Hatch Act, he said, is the withholding of federal aid until the employe guilty of an offense is discharged.

Doctor of Year Named

Cleveland, Dec. 5 (AP)—Dr. Dean Sherwood Luce of Canton, Mass., was named family doctor of the year today by the American Medical Association's house of delegates. The 74-year-old doctor, son of a Yankee sea captain, is a native of Holliston, Mass., and has practiced in Canton since 1905. To several Canton families he has delivered three generations of babies. Dr. Luce was not here when the award was announced. Later he will get a gold medal denoting outstanding service as a family doctor.

Say California Has Checked Fraud in Jobless Claims

San Francisco, Dec. 5 (AP)—Four New York legislators say they are convinced that California has licked the problem of fraudulent unemployment insurance claims by New Yorkers.

The legislators are investigating payments by New York state to jobless persons who have moved here.

They began the checkup yesterday at Sacramento and continued it here today. They plan to visit Los Angeles, then go to New Orleans, La., before returning home.

At Sacramento, the investigators conferred for three hours with California officials, then had a two-hour luncheon meeting with Gov. Earl Warren.

Senator Joseph Zaretzki of New York city, who acted as spokesman when the group was interviewed later, said the New York legislators were convinced "there is no fraud here in California."

California has "licked the problem" by tightening its system of handling out-of-state claims and by devoting more time to interviewing claimants, Zaretzki asserted.

Entitled to Pay

Under New York's unemployment insurance law, jobless persons who move to another state may collect benefits if there is a reasonable chance for them to obtain work in the new location.

The New York legislators investigating the situation here are members of a joint legislative committee created to study administration of the unemployment setup.

Assemblyman Orlo M. Brees, vice-chairman of the joint committee, heads the probers here. Other members of the group, in addition to Zaretzki, are Senator William S. Hults, Jr., of Nassau county and Assemblyman Thomas J. Brown of Troy. With them are the committee counsel, Karel F. Ficek, and New York state's unemployment insurance director, Milton O. Loysen.

Award to Be Made

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—A posthumous award of the Medal for Merit to the late Al Jolson, stage, screen and radio star, will be made by the Defense Department. An announcement today said the award is for "extraordinary fidelity and exceptionally meritorious conduct" in Jolson's combat zone trips to entertain troops in World War 2 and the Korean war. Defense Secretary Marshall will present the medal to Mrs. Jolson in ceremony at the Pentagon tomorrow.

PURE ART? NO, PURE LARD—Sculptors Frank and Betty Dutt of Quincy, Ill., are using 400 pounds of pure lard as the medium for this creation at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago. The statue shows two youthful pig-raisers bottle-feeding two infant porkers.

Rival Widows Give Court Tangle in Settling Big Estate

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—A New York city surrogate will have to steer his way through foreign and domestic marriage laws to distribute a $300,000 estate claimed by two rival widows.

The money was left to the women in equal shares by the late Charles W. Parr, 62-year-old chain grocery executive who died last Nov. 9 at his 9,000-acre plantation, Hidden Valley Farms, Warm Springs, Va.

He described one of the women as "my present wife," Mrs. Catherine Parr, 30, and the other as "my former wife," Mrs. Gertrude Parr, 50.

The former lives at 110 East 73rd St., Manhattan, and the latter at 7 Leafy Lane, Larchmont, N. Y.

Calls It Fraud

But Mrs. Gertrude Parr objected in surrogate court yesterday that the younger woman was not legally Parr's wife, and claimed Parr was not competent to make the will and that it was obtained by "fraud and undue influence."

Mrs. Gertrude Parr's attorney, Herman Goldberg, said the will was invalid because she had never been divorced in New York state.

In 1944, the younger woman, then the wife of navy lieutenant Carl Holvick, was divorced by her husband after he failed in a court move to keep Parr away from her.

Parr later got a Mexican divorce and married Catherine in New Jersey.

Goldberg said that under New York law Mrs. Gertrude Parr was not divorced, but only legally separated from her husband. Under the New York separation decree, she drew $8,400-a-year in alimony. She had based the separation claim on the Holvick divorce charges.

No trial date was set yesterday.

Chinese Reds . . .

possible to fix the forward line of the Chinese advance.

A U. S. 25th Division patrol scouted the outskirts later and reported it had seen no Chinese. But a smoke pall from burning allied supplies and installations hung over the area.

Protected by a rear guard shield of British and South Korean troops south of Pyongyang, overwhelmed allied troop columns beat a war-weary retreat toward the South Korean capital, Seoul.

AP correspondent O. H. P. King reported from Seoul that a stand might be made thereabouts. He quoted a veteran military observer:

"Even in the face of a million Chinese Communists the Seoul-Inchon area can be held. Such heavy losses could be inflicted on the enemy by artillery and air that his hope of sweeping the peninsula would be completely smashed."

Must Get Outside Help

But correspondent King also quoted contrary opinion that said: "Let's face it. Someone outside Korea must come to our rescue if we are to stay."

The Chinese Reds swept across Pyongyang airfield before entering the city.

Only 13 days ago the allied Eighth Army now in flight was driving northward within 50 miles of the Manchurian border.

Masses of Chinese Reds, striking as the shock troops of more than 1,000,000 General MacArthur said had been committed to the Korean War, turned the tide.

Fight Against Trap

In the northeast, marines and doughboys fought to break out of a deep Red Chinese trap south of Changjin reservoir. Chinese masses mounted twin drives to cut off the entire 10th Corps of three American and two South Korean divisions.

Air observers reported a rising tempo in both rail and road movement of Red troops from the Manchurian border.

One 30-mile-long convoy was sighted moving toward Changjin Reservoir in North Central Korea. A spokesman estimated this convoy probably was carrying two Chinese divisions—up to 20,000 troops—toward the area where First Division Marines and Seventh Division doughboys are trapped.

B-26s Hit Convoy

Night-flying B-26 light bombers hammered at the long enemy convoy which wound steadily south with lights blazing.

The Fifth Air Force said its planes were making a death trap of the Taedong river north of Pyongyang.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander, said F-80 Shooting Star jets caught masses of Chinese trying to ford the river Tuesday and killed 2,000.

Its planes hit the devastated rail yards at Pyongyang, rocketing and fire-bombing supplies the Eighth Army had left behind, and struck a Red ammunition train near there.

B-29 Superforts bombed the Kanggye area, an avenue for Chinese forces swarming into Korea and reported center of the Red Korean high command.

The principle of the steam engine was known for 1700 years before the use of coal as fuel made such engines practical, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Dentists to Train For A-Bomb Emergency

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Fourteen thousand New York city and state dentists were notified today that they are to train as emergency doctors for atomic bombings.

The action was taken by the ten district branches of the New York State Dental Society meeting here. The plan is for every dentist to take a two-day course in medical treatment.

The courses are to be made available to dentists all over the state by teaching teams that will visit the larger cities. It was announced that the teachers will be dentists and doctors, who have received, or are yet to receive, training in atomic injury care at the Brookhaven National Laboratory, Upton, Long Island.

To date three dentists have taken this course, at the expense of the New York State Dental Society. The Society will pay the expenses of these three for the teaching work they are to do. In addition to the three dental teachers, it was said that the New York State Department of Health will furnish some doctors similarly trained to act as teachers upstate, and the Office of Civil Defense of New York city and the city health officers will do the same in the city.

The teaching courses are to begin January 24.

Astoria Man Held In Alleged Plot To Get $300,000

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—Ora W. Grow, 47, of 23-57 33rd street, Astoria, Queens, president of the Grow System School at 112 West 42nd street, Manhattan, whom the government charges is the "mastermind" in a plot to cheat the government out of about $300,000 by fraudulent claims under the G.I. Bill of Rights, was held in $20,000 bail yesterday by U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald.

Grow's arrest is the third over the week-end in connection with the alleged plot whereby attendance records of the beauty culture school were falsified, thereby enabling veterans to draw subsistence checks from the government under the G.I. Bill of Rights while never actually attending classes.

Announced by Scheidt

Grow's arrest was announced by Edward Scheidt, special agent in charge of the New York F.B.I. office. The two men previously arrested are Victor J. Triolo, an instructor at the school, and Albert Martinez, bookkeeper. Both are at liberty under $5,000 each.

According to Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis I. Kaplan, Grow was the sole owner of the business at the West 42nd street address and had been in the beauty culture school business about 20 years.

Kaplan said that after a veteran was certified as a student he would receive a monthly subsistence from the government of $125 if married or $100 if single.

Flee From Government

The school received a $500 tuition fee from the government for each student taking a 1000-hour course, and the school also received from the government from $30 to $50 for instruments and other paraphernalia, it was reported.

The prosecutor said the government had discovered that so far 273 "are directly involved in the scheme."

Kaplan said that not only would the school receive the tuition fee, but kick-backs amounting up to $25 from the monthly subsistence which the students received. He added that the school also charged for tools which the students did not use.

Scheidt said that Grow allegedly benefitted "to the tune of over 90 per cent of the take of each veteran."

Scheidt said that $1,688 in cash was found on Grow at the time of his arrest.

Grow admitted, according to Scheidt, that in 1944 he was charged with practicing medicine without a license in New York, but claimed he was acquitted by trial.

Ready for Approval

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—A multi-billion dollar excess profits tax bill was ready for House approval today. It apparently faced clear sailing in the Senate later. Passage at the close of House debate today appeared certain. There was a possibility however, that the final vote might be put off until tomorrow. Its chances for final enacting, once dim, were brightened by international developments making it obvious that no end is in sight to vast defense spending. The administration renewed a drive to swell the amount it will bring in.

Some Civil Service Employes May Be Active Politically

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—Attorney General Nathaniel Goldstein says it is legal for civil service employes of the state and its sub-divisions to engage in political activity, with certain exceptions.

The exceptions are police commissioners, members of police forces, and state and local employes whose salaries are paid from federal funds.

Other civil service employes must confine political work to their free time and must not use their official positions for political purposes, according to Goldstein.

The attorney general expressed his unofficial opinion in a letter to Michael J. Kehoe, Sixth ward supervisor in Yonkers. The letter dated Nov. 21, was released yesterday.

Goldstein wrote:

"I believe that an employe of the state or of any political subdivision of the state may be a member of a political committee (1) if his activity in that connection does not occur during the hours in which he is required to perform his duties to the state or a political subdivision of the state, and (2) if he does not use his official connection with the state government in the course of such political activities."

May Contribute Directly

However, Goldstein said, under the state penal law "no person who is a police commissioner or an officer or member of any police force in this state may contribute any money directly or indirectly to, or solicit or collect or receive any money for, any political fund nor may he join or become a member of any political club, association, society or committee."

Violation of this statute is a misdemeanor.

Goldstein said the federal Hatch Act, which bans political activity by federal employes, also applies to employes of states and smaller subdivisions who are paid from federal funds.

The penalty for violation of the Hatch Act, he said, is the withholding of federal aid until the employe guilty of an offense is discharged.

Doctor of Year Named

Cleveland, Dec. 5 (AP)—Dr. Dean Sherwood Luce of Canton, Mass., was named family doctor of the year today by the American Medical Association's house of delegates. The 74-year-old doctor, son of a Yankee sea captain, is a native of Holliston, Mass., and has practiced in Canton since 1905. To several Canton families he has delivered three generations of babies. Dr. Luce was not here when the award was announced. Later he will get a gold medal denoting outstanding service as a family doctor.

Say California Has Checked Fraud in Jobless Claims

San Francisco, Dec. 5 (AP)—Four New York legislators say they are convinced that California has licked the problem of fraudulent unemployment insurance claims by New Yorkers.

The legislators are investigating payments by New York state to jobless persons who have moved here.

They began the checkup yesterday at Sacramento and continued it here today. They plan to visit Los Angeles, then go to New Orleans, La., before returning home.

At Sacramento, the investigators conferred for three hours with California officials, then had a two-hour luncheon meeting with Gov. Earl Warren.

Senator Joseph Zaretzki of New York city, who acted as spokesman when the group was interviewed later, said the New York legislators were convinced "there is no fraud here in California."

California has "licked the problem" by tightening its system of handling out-of-state claims and by devoting more time to interviewing claimants, Zaretzki asserted.

Entitled to Pay

Under New York's unemployment insurance law, jobless persons who move to another state may collect benefits if there is a reasonable chance for them to obtain work in the new location.

Last year, New York state chacked down on "chiselers" spending the winter months in Florida while collecting jobless insurance.

The New York legislators investigating the situation here are members of a joint legislative committee created to study administration of the unemployment setup.

Assemblyman Orlo M. Brees, vice-chairman of the joint committee, heads the probers here. Other members of the group, in addition to Zaretzki, are Senator William S. Hults, Jr., of Nassau county and Assemblyman Thomas J. Brown of Troy. With them are the committee counsel, Karel F. Ficek, and New York state's unemployment insurance director, Milton O. Loysen.

Award to Be Made

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP)—A posthumous award of the Medal for Merit to the late Al Jolson, stage, screen and radio star, will be made by the Defense Department. An announcement today said the award is for "extraordinary fidelity and exceptionally meritorious conduct" in Jolson's combat zone trips to entertain troops in World War 2 and the Korean war. Defense Secretary Marshall will present the medal to Mrs. Jolson in ceremony at the Pentagon tomorrow.

Rival Widows Give Court Tangle in Settling Big Estate

New York, Dec. 5 (AP)—A New York city surrogate will have to steer his way through foreign and domestic marriage laws to distribute a $300,000 estate claimed by two rival widows.

The money was left to the women in equal shares by the late Charles W. Parr, 62-year-old chain grocery executive who died last Nov. 9 at his 9,000-acre plantation, Hidden Valley Farms, Warm Springs, Va.

He described one of the women as "my present wife," Mrs. Catherine Parr, 30, and the other as "my former wife," Mrs. Gertrude Parr, 50.

The former lives at 110 East 73rd St., Manhattan, and the latter at 7 Leafy Lane, Larchmont, N. Y.

Calls It Fraud

But Mrs. Gertrude Parr objected in surrogate court yesterday that the younger woman was not legally Parr's wife, and claimed Parr was not competent to make the will and that it was obtained by "fraud and undue influence."

Mrs. Gertrude Parr's attorney, Herman Goldberg, said the will was invalid because she had never been divorced in New York state.

In 1944, the younger woman, then the wife of navy lieutenant Carl Holvick, was divorced by her husband after he failed in a court move to keep Parr away from her.

Parr later got a Mexican divorce and married Catherine in New Jersey.

Goldberg said that under New York law Mrs. Gertrude Parr was not divorced, but only legally separated from her husband. Under the New York separation decree, she drew $8,400-a-year in alimony. She had based the separation claim on the Holvick divorce charges.

No trial date was set yesterday.

Chinese Reds . . .

possible to fix the forward line of the Chinese advance.

A U. S. 25th Division patrol scouted the outskirts later and reported it had seen no Chinese. But a smoke pall from burning allied supplies and installations hung over the area.

Protected by a rear guard shield of British and South Korean troops south of Pyongyang, overwhelmed allied troop columns beat a war-weary retreat toward the South Korean capital, Seoul.

Would they stand and defend against onrushing Chinese masses? Where?

AP correspondent O. H. P. King reported from Seoul that a stand might be made thereabouts. He quoted a veteran military observer:

"Even in the face of a million Chinese Communists the Seoul-Inchon area can be held. Such heavy losses could be inflicted on the enemy by artillery and air that his hope of sweeping the peninsula would be completely smashed."

Must Get Outside Help

But correspondent King also quoted contrary opinion that said: "Let's face it. Someone outside Korea must come to our rescue if we are to stay."

The Chinese Reds swept across Pyongyang airfield before entering the city.

Only 13 days ago the allied Eighth Army now in flight was driving northward within 50 miles of the Manchurian border.

Masses of Chinese Reds, striking as the shock troops of more than 1,000,000 General MacArthur said had been committed to the Korean War, turned the tide.

Fight Against Trap

In the northeast, marines and doughboys fought to break out of a deep Red Chinese trap south of Changjin reservoir. Chinese masses mounted twin drives to cut off the entire 10th Corps of three American and two South Korean divisions.

But the Chinese were rolling southward all across the Korean peninsula.

Air observers reported a rising tempo in both rail and road movement of Red troops from the Manchurian border.

One 30-mile-long convoy was sighted moving toward Changjin Reservoir in North Central Korea. A spokesman estimated this convoy probably was carrying two Chinese divisions—up to 20,000 troops—toward the area where First Division Marines and Seventh Division doughboys are trapped.

B-26s Hit Convoy

Night-flying B-26 light bombers hammered at the long enemy convoy which wound steadily south with lights blazing.

The Fifth Air Force said its planes were making a death trap of the Taedong river north of Pyongyang.

Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander, said F-80 Shooting Star jets caught masses of Chinese trying to ford the river Tuesday and killed 2,000.

The Fifth flew 302 sorties—more than two-thirds made in close support of the retreating Eighth Army.

system to the new and the costs of the extraordinary damages resulting from the recent floods. Your committee recommends that the latter policy be adopted. In doing so we recognize that we are recommending a policy which is contrary to the historic policy of our Board of not financing public improvements by means of bond issues. The grave situation presented by the recent flood damages, however, left us no other reasonable alternative.

Minimum of Increase

"To summarize, we had a choice between recommending an extraordinarily high county budget with its resulting high tax rate or recommending a county budget with a minimum of increases, financing the transition period and the flood damage expenses by means of a bond issue. We chose the latter course as the only reasonable one which could be followed. To do otherwise would make the burden of the local taxpayer unbearable.

Accordingly, we submit herewith a revised budget and recommend its adoption. We also recommend the immediate adoption of a bond resolution in the amount of $205,000, to provide funds for the transitory period between the effective dates of the old and new budget, which resolution should provide for the retirement of the bonds in a period of five years. In addition, we recommend the adoption during the next year of bond resolutions to provide for the reconstruction of the aforesaid highways and bridges in an amount not exceeding $500,000, the exact amounts of such bond issues to be determined, from time to time, in accordance with reports to be submitted to the board by County Highway Superintendent Loughran.

Dated: December 4, 1950.

Respectfully submitted,
CLUETT SCHANTZ
KENNETH L. WILSON
HOWARD C. ANDERSON"

Retired in 5 Years

The $205,000 bond issue will be known as "County Budget Series, 1950" bonds and will be issued in denominations of $1,000 to bear not more than 5 per cent interest. The bonds will be retired in five years. The first series of $50,000 will be paid June 1952, the second in 1953 and the third in 1954 while the bonds to be retired in 1955 will amount to the balance of $55,000.

At a recent meeting and prior to the flood the board had anticipated the money needed for the transitory period could be raised without bonds and a resolution was adopted authorizing the borrowing of the $205,000 on capital notes. Then came the flood and the need for much more money. The board on Monday evening adopted a resolution authorizing the immediate payment of the $205,000 capital notes and then proceeded to authorize the bond issue for the money. The board, after adoption of the bond issue, voted then to borrow "in anticipation of the bond issue," the sum of $205,000 on "Bond Anticipation Notes" which will be paid when the bond issue money is received following sale of the bonds.

'Cost of Living' Bonus

Included in the budget is an item of $240 fon each salaried employe of the county, exclusive of elected officers, heads of departments and the supervisors themselves. This will be known as a "cost of living bonus." Employes who are engaged on an hourly basis, as are the highway department employes, there is an increase of 10 cents an hour instead of the flat bonus. This was done since many temporary employes are hired who work for short periods. This 10 cent an hour increase was suggested by County Superintendent of Highways Loughran.

The Civil Service Employes Association had requested a 15 per cent increase in pay.

Fund Transferred

The Board authorized the transfer of $70,000 from the County Road Fund to the snow removal fund, for removal of snow and ice this winter.

County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran sent a communication recommending that an $8,000 appropriation made for a county road in Lloyd be allocated to the Eltinge Corner-Clintondale road and on resolution later offered the recommendation was adopted.

The Committee on Town and County Accounts reported unpaid water bills of the Marlborough water extension district amounted to $1,118.97 and a resolution was approved authorizing the assessment and levy of that sum on the properties upon which the charge remained unpaid. The same committee reported returned water tax in other water districts in the sum of $2441.65 and it was moved these sums be levied. Carried.

The Committee on Errors and Assessments reported $1,653.20 due from property owners whose assessments had been omitted from the rolls of the various towns and a resolution was approved for collection of these amounts.

The Committee on Errors and Assessments also reported refunds in the amount of $929.72 due and a resolution was approved by the board to make these refunds.

To Be Paid on Daily Basis

The mileage for trial and grand jurors, which has been paid once a week, will now be paid each day the juror is required to travel from home to court and back. The board authorized payment at eight cents per mile once a day beginning January 1, 1951. This is in addition to the per diem pay.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the levy of $700 against the towns of each of the four supervisory districts to pay the increased salary of the district superintendents.

Clerk Snyder announced all supervisors bills must be in by Thursday, December 7, when the board will again meet at 7:30 following the annual inspection of the Tuberculosis Hospital at 5:30 p. m.

Laboratory Increase

Included in the revised budget is an increase for the city laboratory. The tentative budget called for $22,000. An appeal was made to raise this to $38,000 if present service was to be maintained. The budget committee increased the fund to $27,476 in the budget adopted Monday night. One-half of this is reimbursible by the state. The capital construction fund of $60,000 in the tentative budget was stricken from the new budget in order to keep the new budget down. The sum of $5,000 was stricken from the court and jury fund. The debt retirement item, which in the tentative budget was $160,000 was cut to $65,475. The original item had included half of the $205,000 capital notes which it had been anticipated would be issued but which in the new budget are replaced by bonds. In the highway fund the bridge item in the budget adopted is $50,000. In the tentative budget which was made up prior to the flood and prior to the anticipation of bonds for bridge work in flooded areas, this item had been for $165,000. In order to bring the revised budget down smaller sums were also cut from various categories, members of the budget committee stated after the session.

The budget committee stressed the fact that the cost of living bonus had not been granted to the supervisors who get no increase in pay, but was applicable to salaried employes, exclusive of elected officials and heads of departments.

Gehr Faces Trial In Wife's Slaying

Carmel, N. Y., Dec. 5 (AP)—The trial of Herbert Gehr, Hollywood photographer and New York television director, for the divorce raid killing of his wife, Andrea, was postponed today until next Monday.

The panel of 60 prospective jurors was excused until that date by Judge Robert Doscher, of Rockland county, because of the illness of the trial judge, Putnam County Judge John P. Donohoe.

Gehr, who claimed he was afraid of burglars and "boy friends," blazed away with a 22-rifle from his darkened rendezvous cottage near Brewster the night of last July 10.

One of the bullets hit the 30-year-old Mrs. Gehr between the eyes as she led private detectives and a photographer on an adultery raid to catch her husband in bed with sultry, red-haired Dorothea Matthews.

Mrs. Matthews, 31, herself a principal in a series of raids and divorce hearings, fled naked into the woods after the shooting—but later joined Gehr in surrendering to police.

She is not charged in the case, but Gehr must stand trial for second degree (unpremeditated) murder. He has been free under $25,000 bond.

Since the shooting, Mrs. Matthews has won an Alabama divorce from her wealthy husband, Mark, and has announced she will stand by her lover.

If convicted, Gehr 39, would face up to a life term in prison.

system to the new and the costs of the extraordinary damages resulting from the recent floods. Your committee recommends that the latter policy be adopted. In doing so we recognize that we are recommending a policy which is contrary to the historic policy of our Board of not financing public improvements by means of bond issues. The grave situation presented by the recent flood damages, however, left us no other reasonable alternative.

Minimum of Increase

"To summarize, we had a choice between recommending an extraordinarily high county budget with its resulting high tax rate or recommending a county budget with a minimum of increases, financing the transition period and the flood damage expenses by means of a bond issue. We chose the latter course as the only reasonable one which could be followed. To do otherwise would make the burden of the local taxpayer unbearable.

Accordingly, we submit herewith a revised budget and recommend its adoption. We also recommend the immediate adoption of a bond resolution in the amount of $205,000, to provide funds for the transitory period between the effective dates of the old and new budget, which resolution should provide for the retirement of the bonds in a period of five years. In addition, we recommend the adoption during the next year of bond resolutions to provide for the reconstruction of the aforesaid highways and bridges in an amount not exceeding $500,000, the exact amounts of such bond issues to be determined, from time to time, in accordance with reports to be submitted to the board by County Highway Superintendent Loughran.

Dated: December 4, 1950.
Respectfully submitted,
CLUETT SCHANTZ
KENNETH L. WILSON
HOWARD C. ANDERSON"

Retired in 5 Years

The $205,000 bond issue will be known as "County Budget Series, 1950" bonds and will be issued in denominations of $1,000 to bear not more than 5 per cent interest. The bonds will be retired in five years. The first series of $50,000 will be paid June 1952, the second in 1953 and the third in 1954 while the bonds to be retired in 1955 will amount to the balance of $55,000.

At a recent meeting and prior to the flood the board had anticipated the money needed for the transitory period could be raised without bonds and a resolution was adopted authorizing the borrowing of the $205,000 on capital notes. Then came the flood and the need for much more money. The board on Monday evening adopted a resolution authorizing the immediate payment of the $205,000 capital notes and then proceeded to authorize the bond issue for the money. The board, after adoption of the bond issue, voted then to borrow "in anticipation of the bond issue," the sum of $205,000 on "Bond Anticipation Notes" which will be paid when the bond issue money is received following sale of the bonds.

'Cost of Living' Bonus

Included in the budget is an item of $240 for each salaried employe of the county, exclusive of elected officers, heads of departments and the supervisors themselves. This will be known as a "cost of living bonus." Employes who are engaged on an hourly basis, as are the highway department employes, there is an increase of 10 cents an hour instead of the flat bonus. This was done since many temporary employes are hired who work for short periods. This 10 cent an hour increase was suggested by County Superintendent of Highways Loughran.

The Civil Service Employes Association had requested a 15 per cent increase in pay.

Fund Transferred

The Board authorized the transfer of $70,000 from the County Road Fund to the snow removal fund, for removal of snow and ice this winter.

County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran sent a communication recommending that an $8,000 appropriation made for a county road in Lloyd be allocated to the Eltinge Corner-Clintondale road and on resolution later offered the recommendation was adopted.

The Committee on Town and County Accounts reported unpaid water bills of the Marlborough water extension district amounted to $1,118.97 and a resolution was approved authorizing the assessment and levy of that sum on the properties upon which the charge remained unpaid. The same committee reported returned water tax in other water districts in the sum of $2441.65 and it was moved these sums be levied. Carried.

The Committee on Errors and Assessments reported $1,653.20 due from property owners whose assessments had been omitted from the rolls of the various towns and a resolution was approved for collection of these amounts.

The Committee on Errors and Assessments also reported refunds in the amount of $929.72 due and a resolution was approved by the board to make these refunds.

To Be Paid on Daily Basis

The mileage for trial and grand jurors, which has been paid once a week, will now be paid each day the juror is required to travel from home to court and back. The board authorized payment at eight cents per mile once a day beginning January 1, 1951. This is in addition to the per diem pay.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the levy of $700 against the towns of each of the four supervisory districts to pay the increased salary of the district superintendents.

Clerk Snyder announced all supervisors bills must be in by Thursday, December 7, when the board will again meet at 7:30 following the annual inspection of the Tuberculosis Hospital at 5:30 p. m.

Laboratory Increase

Included in the revised budget is an increase for the city laboratory. The tentative budget called for $22,000. An appeal was made to raise this to $38,000 if present service was to be maintained. The budget committee increased the fund to $27,476 in the budget adopted Monday night. One-half of this is reimbursible by the state. The capital construction fund of $60,000 in the tentative budget was stricken from the new budget in order to keep the new budget down. The sum of $5,000 was stricken from the court and jury fund. The debt retirement item, which in the tentative budget was $160,000 was cut to $65,475. The original item had included half of the $205,000 capital notes which it had been anticipated would be issued but which in the new budget are replaced by bonds. In the highway fund the bridge item in the budget adopted is $50,000. In the tentative budget which was made up prior to the flood and prior to the anticipation of bonds for bridge work in flooded areas, this item had been for $165,000. In order to bring the revised budget down smaller sums were also cut from various categories, members of the budget committee stated after the session.

The budget committee stressed the fact that the cost of living bonus had not been granted to the supervisors who get no increase in pay, but was applicable to salaried employes, exclusive of elected officials and heads of departments.

Hearing Is Adjourned

City Judge Raymond Mino this morning adjourned for two weeks a hearing of Edwin Thomas, 39, of 56 Abeel street, on a first degree grand larceny charge. Thomas, a night dispatcher, was accused of the unauthorized use of a taxicab on Sunday, Nov. 26.

Only 73 Labrador retrievers were registered with the British Kennel Club in 1906; in 1946 there were 3,000.
